SCRAPBOOK EDITION

WE, THE SENIOR CLASS
OF
ALIQUIPPA HIGH SCHOOL,
DEDICATE AND PRESENT
THIS SCRAP BOOK EDITION
OF THE QUIPPIAN
TO THE COMMUNITY OF
ALIQUIPPA, PENNSYLVANIA

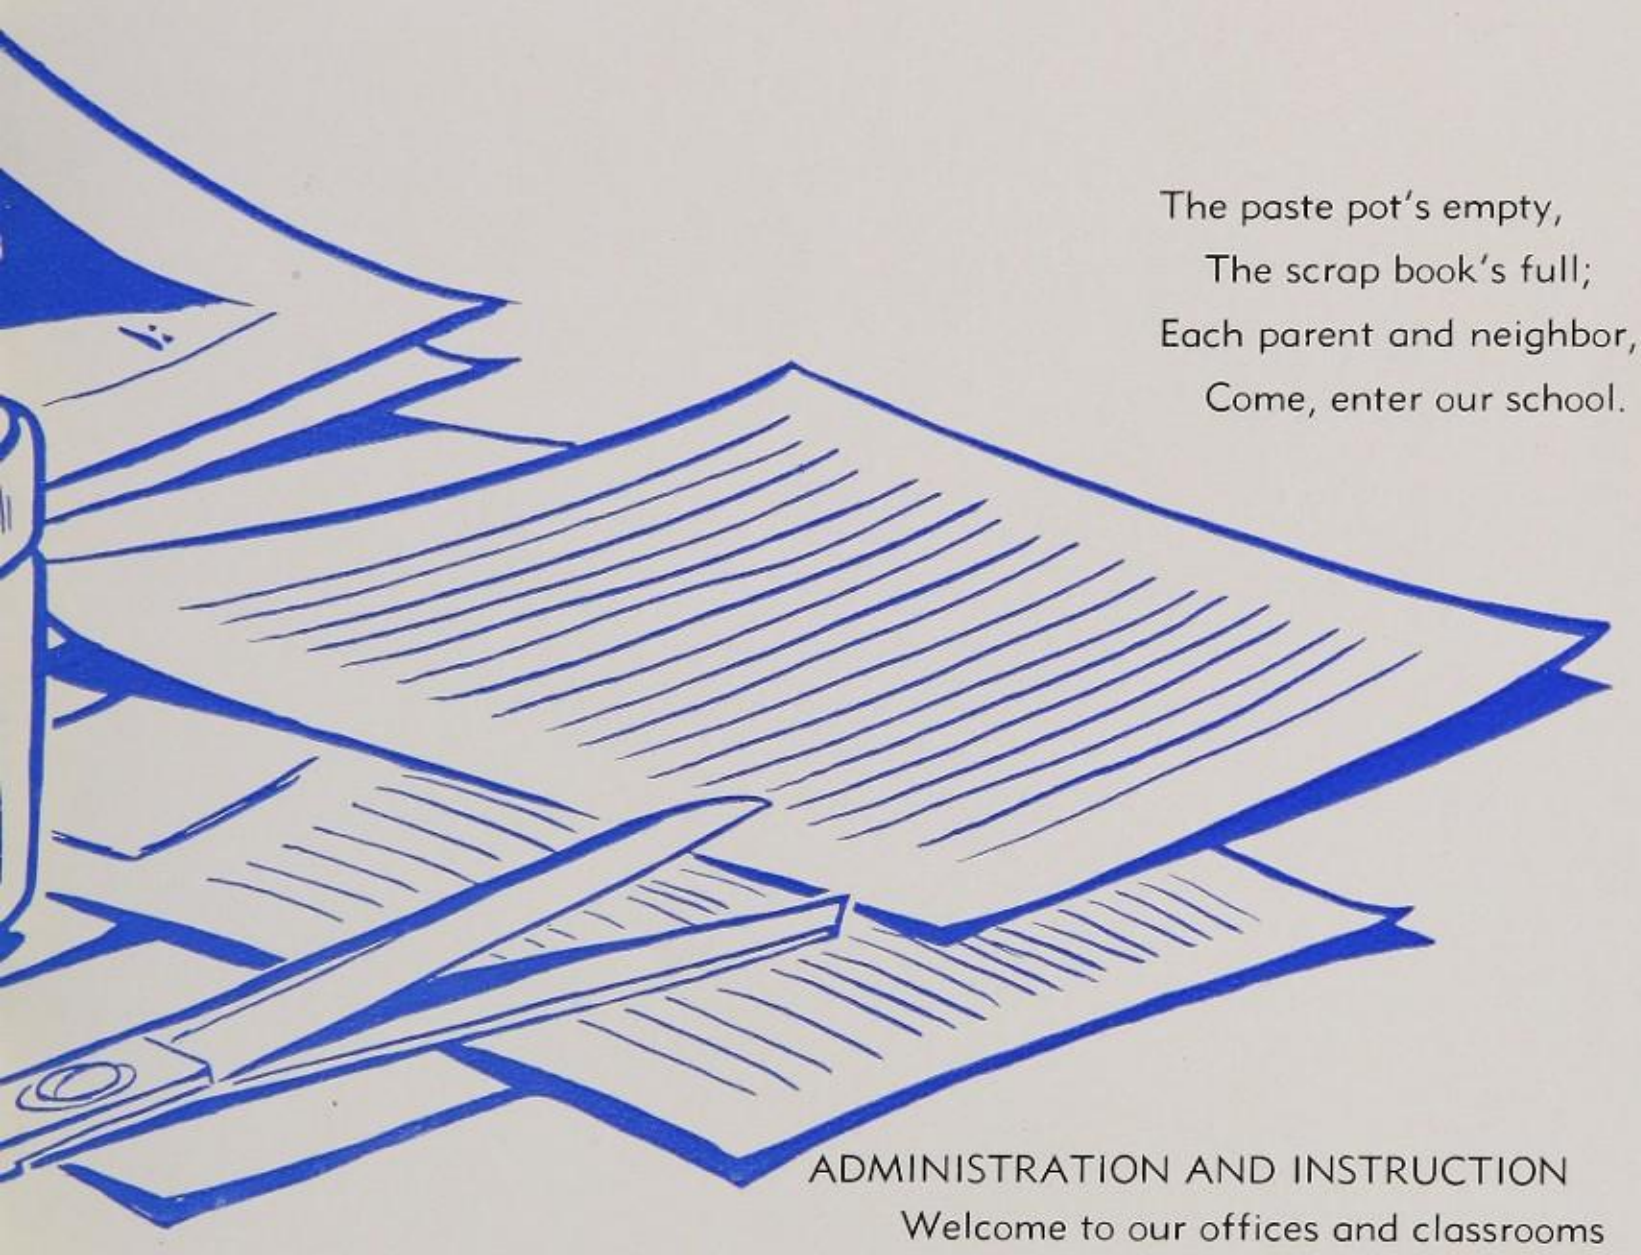
Mr. and

Mrs. Aliquippa, HOW MUCH . . . . . .

do you really know about your high school on the hill? . . . . . .
We thought so . . . . . Tch! Tch! . . . . . Too bad! . . . . . Too bad!

A shrug of the shoulder? Oh no! No! Not from us! We '41 grads realize how much we owe to your generosity in the matter of our education.

Therefore, we have compiled this cross section of A. H. S. daily life. We hope that in your eyes it will be both informative and enjoyable . . . . . Very seriously . . . . . May we, too, in the future join you in "bearing the colors"?



The paste pot's empty,
The scrap book's full;
Each parent and neighbor,
Come, enter our school.

ADMINISTRATION AND INSTRUCTION
Welcome to our offices and classrooms

CLASSES
Seventeen hundred ninety of us say, "How do you do?"

ATHLETICS
Perhaps we've already met under the stadium lights

CLUBS
Four o'clock! Don't leave! Let us say "Au revoir!"

Four years of English . . . We find that our ability to speak and to write has developed steadily, and that our appreciation of literature and our pleasure in reading have increased each semester.

Jessie Kirk, librarian; Lillian Friedman, clerk—"Where can I find a book on . . . .?" During the year, 12,530 books were circulated among 7450 students

Grace Marsden—Improvement in reading . . . laboratory: test . . . practice . . . retest . . . Excelsior

Caroline Thel—Chanticleer, Canterbury, Chaucer

Rhea McBane—Debate . . . now for the rebuttal

English

We know that the training we received in each English class laid the foundation for the work of the next class. The program of written composition, oral expression, grammar, literature, and book reports has provided us with a well-rounded knowledge of the English language and the use that has been and can be made of it.

Irma Sutton—Period costumes make English literature live

Mary George—Shakespeare by electrical transcription

Herbert Gregg—The art of written composition . . . creative writing

Donald Swarts—We didn't know a letter could be written wrong so many ways

Margaret Libson—Color and romance . . . the power and truth of living . . . the novel

Elizabeth Koehler—Shades of Will Shakespeare! Costuming and make-up . . . dramatics

Emogene Franco—Nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs . . . diagram

Gladys Hoover—You don't have to be a Franklin P. Adams . . . book review

Social Studies

CLIFFORD J. SMITH
Head of Social Studies Department

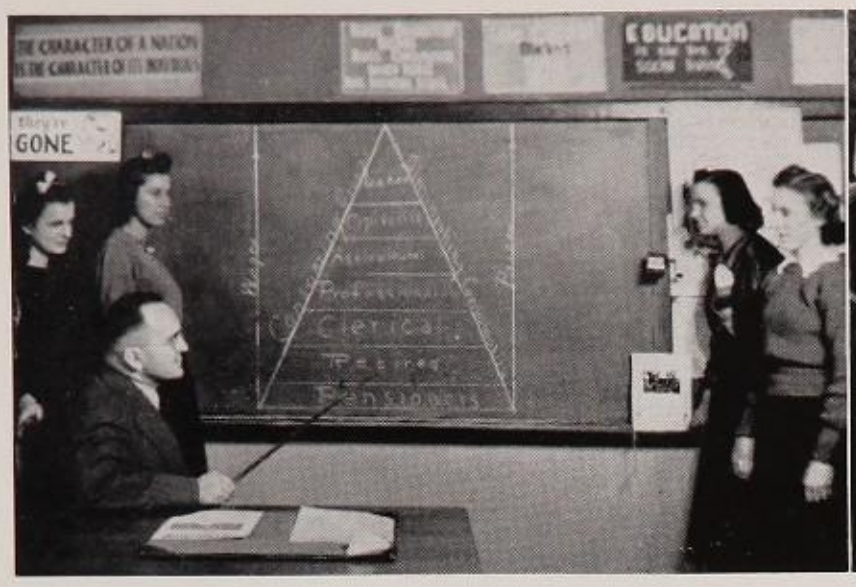
Teachers College, Shippensburg
A.B., University of Pittsburgh
M.A., University of Pittsburgh

Hopewell Township
Teacher, Aliquippa High School

Democracy through experience! Soon after we entered our history classes we learned that we were studying not only dates and wars and the past movements of the peoples of the earth, but also the duties and privileges of citizenship in a free country. Our training consisted of both classroom theory and actual observation of our government at work.

Fred Milanovich—What's new in the news . . . current events reports

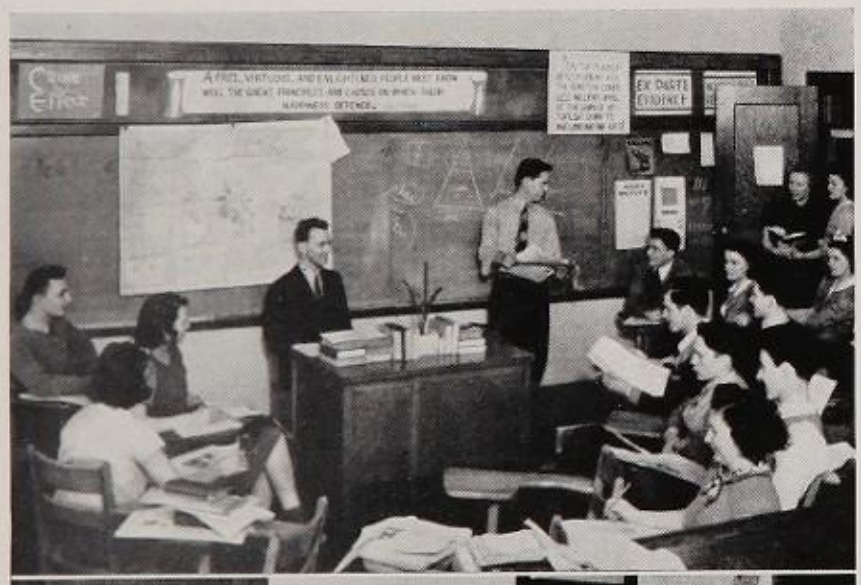
Jack Harris—Democratic institutions . . . their historical development



Harry J. Hartley—The high cost of living . . . the relation between price and consumption

Marion Edwards—Fact versus fiction: propaganda analysis

Trips to courtrooms and government departments, informal talks by outstanding citizens, discussion of current legislation and national projects have given us an understanding of our community.



Eric Garing—Democracy . . . a way of life . . . how does it function

Earle Herbert—Constitutional government . . . how was it adopted by the original thirteen colonies

FRANCIS H. W. MARLEY
Head of Science and Geography Departments

B.S., University of Pittsburgh
Radio-Telephony Instructor U. S. Army
Graduate Study University of Pittsburgh

Blairsville High School, Blairsville
Aspinwall High School, Aspinwall, Pa.
Teacher, Aliquippa High School

Science and

Science is life, and life is science! The time we spent among the trees, flowers, birds, and animals . . . our classroom experiments . . . have convinced us that the theories of science and everyday living are inseparable.

Cortlyn Antonson—Intrepid adventurers in Nature's kingdom . . . the devious dilemmas of physics

Belle Staman—Dinah, the pet dynamo, performs for the general science class

Clyde Hartman—It really worked . . . the promised results in chemistry lab

Allan Chotiner—Steel . . . the workshop of the world . . . geography and industry

Dr. Ralph M. Edeburn—Feeding and care of plants . . . theory of gardening . . . practical biology

Harold Liebermann—Botanical phenomena . . . mysteries of nature revealed

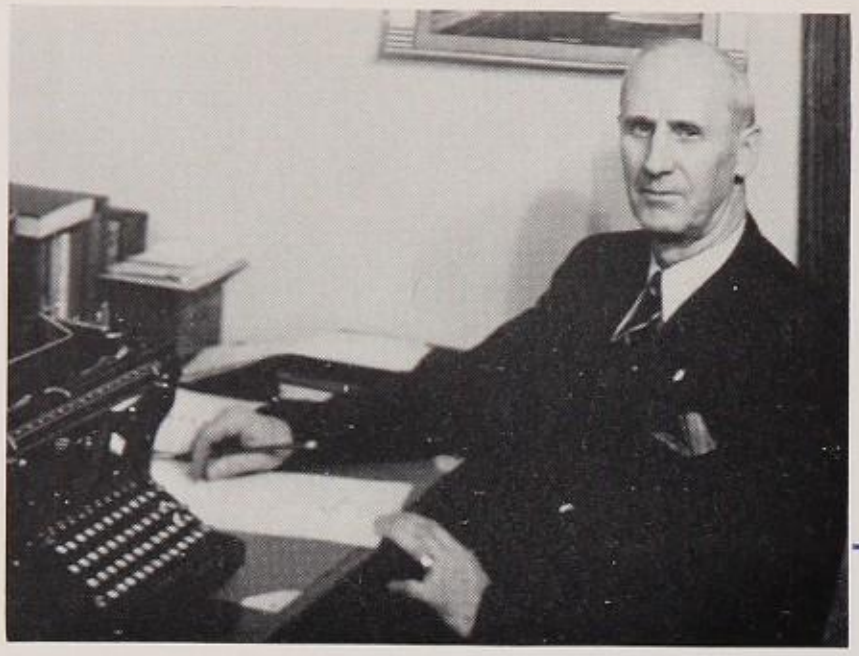
Rudolph Tatalovich—What makes 'em tick . . . dissecting a frog in biology class

The politics, the commerce, and the culture of individual nations are definitely affected by their topography and position on the map. The field work in which we participated and the films and slides which we observed as a part of our study of geography have demonstrated the practicability of geography in business and government.

Geography

Ada Shawkey—Topography and climate . . . their effect on nations . . . advanced geography

William Anderson—Trade winds, shipping routes . . . naval commerce . . . economic geography



WARD D. JORDAN
Head of Mathematics Department

B.S., University of Rochester, N. Y.
M.A., Teachers College, Columbia

Dodgeville High School, Dodgeville, Wis.
Hazelton High School, Hazelton, Pa.
Teacher, Aliquippa High School

Mathematics

Sextant, slide rule, transit, and various other devices supplemented our textbook work as we acquired both a theoretical and a practical knowledge of math. Our instruction has equipped us to meet and solve the problems which require an understanding of mathematics.

Albert Wasel—Quadratics with a vengeance . . . advanced algebra

Elsie Cunningham—O-Oh those theorems . . . practice in reasoning . . . geometry

George Polovina—Our departing seniors take a last look at arithmetic review

Elizabeth Charles—Longitude and time problems . . . general math

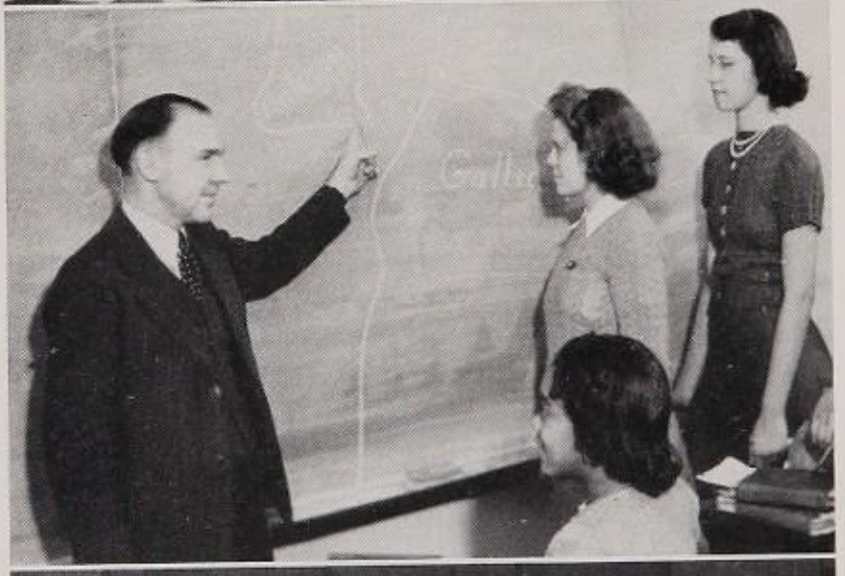
CATHERINE SOWELL
Head of Foreign Language Department

A.B., Winthrop College, S. C.
Th.M., Southwestern Seminary
Th.D. Southwestern Seminary
M.A., University of Pittsburgh

Superintendent of Schools, Tavares, Fla.
Dean of Women, Howard College, Alabama
Teacher, Aliquippa High School

Languages

Latin and French have been for us not a series of translation recitations but a fascinating exploration into language, literature, and life. We have increased our English vocabularies noticeably by applying our knowledge of Latin and have gained an understanding of ancient civilization through our study of Roman authors. Our French classes have had added zest because they have been conducted almost entirely in French.



Helen Smith—Sixteen o'clock . . . sounds fishy to us . . . French

Norman McCormick—Those freehand chalk maps . . . Caesar

Sara Jack—And more fun . . . a class in "Exploring Latin"

Eleanor Splane—Mathematics and everyday life . . . reports on practical problems . . . arithmetic review

Commercial

EDMUND R. McISAAC
Head of Commercial Department

Bowling Green College of Kentucky
B.S., University of Pittsburgh

Teacher, Aliquippa High School

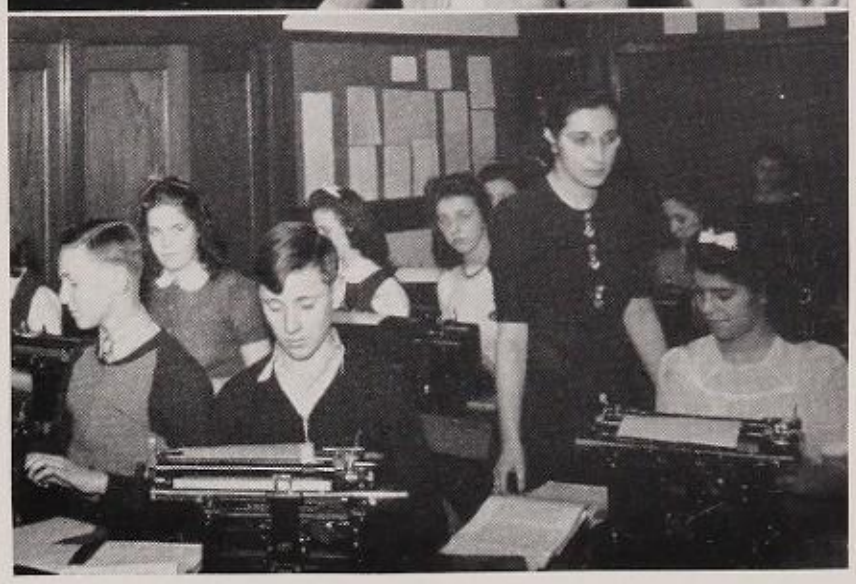
Aware that the business world demands assistants who can cope with its complex problems, the commercial department has provided a streamlined curriculum. The study of business theory, and practical training in the use of the equipment and machinery available to the department have instilled in us confidence in our ability to fill positions in all types of commercial work, from retail selling to secretarial activities.

Margaret MacMillan—Wages-debit; sales-credit . . . or is it wages-credit; sales-debit . . . bookkeeping

Dale W. Robinson—The workshop of the school . . . here's where our workbooks are mimeographed . . . office practice

Wadad Alam—How to be an executive . . . business organization

Harriet Neiman—WASDF JKL . . . Unruly fingers in beginning typing



Lydia Frank—"Speed with accuracy" shorthand class

Harold McDougall—How to break down sales resistance . . . salesmanship class

Freda Greer—Amanuenses to the right of us, secretaries to the left of us . . . advanced typing class

LaRue Ambrose—Corporations, companies, contracts . . . intricacies of business law

ARTHUR D. DAVENPORT
Head of Music Department

University of Pittsburgh
Sherwood School of Music
B.M., Dana School of Music
M.A., Dana School of Music
Mus.D., Dana School of Music

Manual Training High School, Indianapolis
Birmingham High School, Alabama
Sousa Band
Director of Instrumental Music, Aliquippa Schools

Erla Coleman—Lilting lyrics from the strings of many violins

Blanche McWilliams—The blended tones of choral singing emanate from Room 27

Grace Mansell—Voice cultivation . . . music appreciation . . . harmony

Music

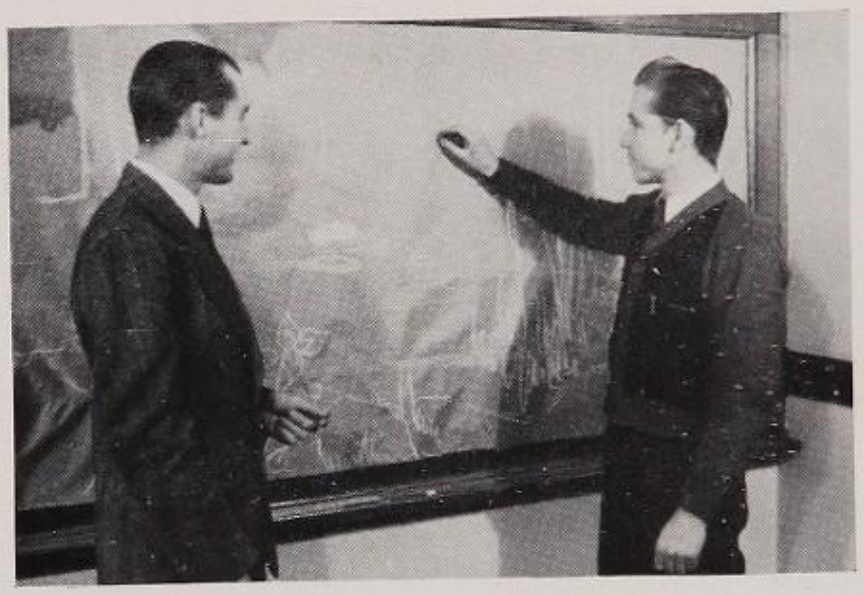
Music for everybody, from the untalented but appreciative listener to the budding composer, has been the motif of the rich curriculum in the music department. We are proud of the excellent instruction in both instrumental and vocal music.

Floyd Bennett—Proper technique in playing the cello . . . instrumental music instruction

Art

Theory and practice have shared our art class time. To appreciate and to create art have both been important. Then, too, we have received instruction in exercising art judgment which will aid us in practical situations such as selecting clothing, decorative equipment, and home furnishings.

John Davis—Art for art's sake! . . . a group of embryo artists



James T. Williams—Functional art . . . original planning

Personal Management

Social behavior . . . self possession in any situation: these we have learned in our personal management classes.

Mary Fay—James Orr—A practical lesson in table etiquette in the model dining room

E. ELVIRA FOX
Head of Home Economics Department
B.S., University of Illinois
West Brownsville, Pa.
Teacher, Aliquippa High School

Home Economics

Home-making in all its ramifications —the traditional home economics subjects, cooking and sewing, formed only a part of the broader and more modern course for those of us who enrolled in this department. A study of family relationships, home furnishing, budgeting, meal planning, and child care has fitted us to organize, equip, and maintain happy homes.

Helen S. Toddie—Correct techniques in sewing class

Catherine S. Bradley—"A stitch in time—" . . . skill on the sewing machine

Jean B. Force—"This is the way we iron our clothes!" . . . in clothing class we make our own wearing apparel

Catherine Moran—Gastronomic gourmands . . . planning and preparing a meal in foods class

EDWIN W. FRENCH
Head of Industrial Department

Buffalo, N. Y., Normal School
B.S., Teachers College, Columbia
M.A., University of Pittsburgh

Teacher, Buffalo, N. Y.
Teacher, Aliquippa High School

Industrial Department

Practical experience in our chosen occupations; this is the opportunity granted to us who were accepted into the industrial department. With training in actual house building and wiring for the carpenters and electricians, and with trade training in commercial jobbing for the machinists and auto repairmen, we feel that we are well-equipped to enter our respective trades.

Edward Ciriacy—Ouch, my thumb! The carpenters build a model home in Industrial Building

Louis P. Ladish—Shocking, isn't it? The electricians progress in their training

Harry E. Marshall—"My Little Yellow Gasket," sing the auto machanics as they repair a motor

Robert J. Ackerly—Aw, nuts! . . . (and bolts!) . . . Machinery and its care delight future mechanics

Related Subjects

Don't think that we have neglected the academic side of our education. In addition to our shop work, we have taken regular courses in methematics, history, science, and English, with the correlation between each of these subjects and our respective industrial occupations always clearly apparent.

Charles S. Biechler—Economic development of the American way of life . . . related social studies

Ann G. Fleming—From A B C to the writing of original poetry . . . that's industrial English

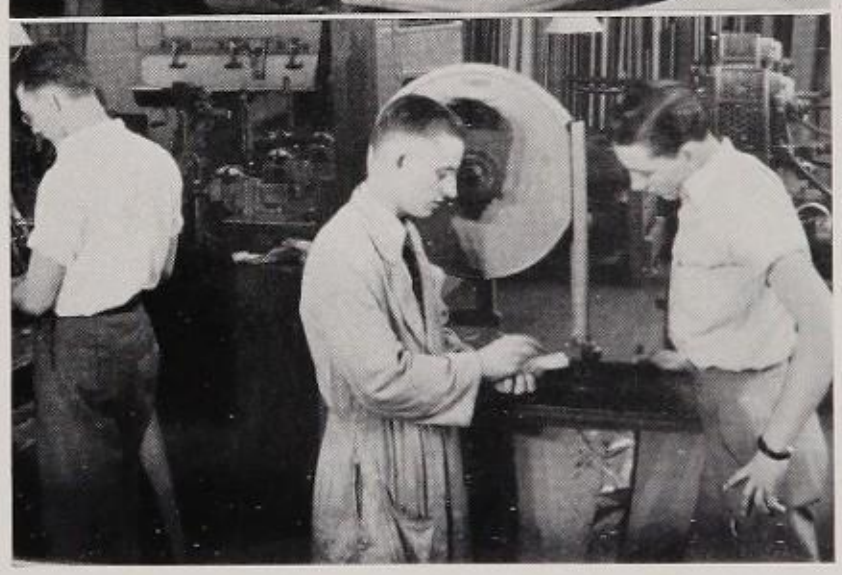
Robert R. Johnson—Oh, those tensile strength problems . . . industrial math

Ralph L. Gummo—If acid doesn't eat it, it's gold . . . the effect of acids on metals . . . related science

Carl B. Petty—Architecture in the making . . . blueprints . . . draftsmanship

Industrial Arts

A creative mind and a skillful hand: these have been the purpose of our industrial arts classes. With opportunities for training in mechanical drawing, wood working, and metal-craft, we have acquired a general manual skill by which we can master the technical problems of our everyday life.

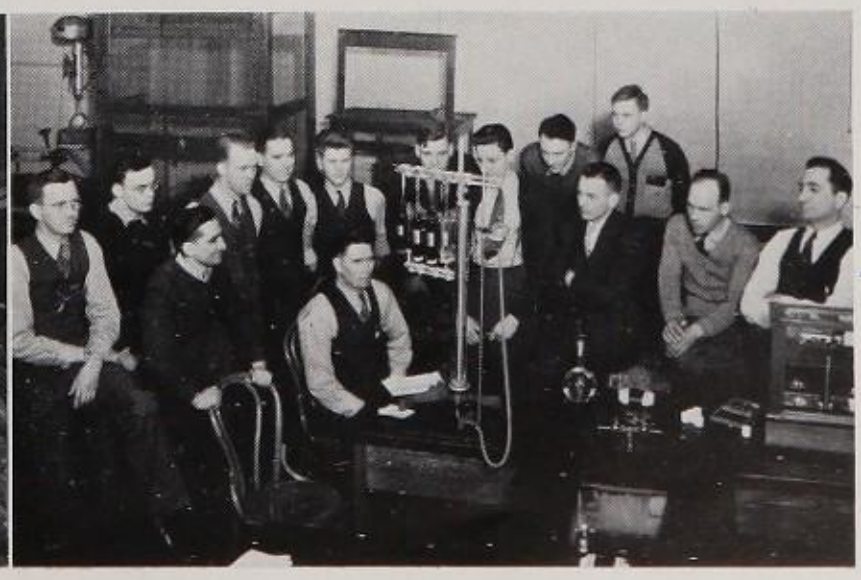


Fred Sanborn—Skill in woodworking . . . cabinet making . . . furniture designing . . . wood shop

Frank Crawford—Lettering, perspective, accuracy in observation and measurement . . . mechanical drawing

Ernest Herklotz—Craftsmanship in metal . . . manual and mechanical arts . . . general shop

Aliquippa's shops participate in the defense training program . . . government project



NATHAN M. LIPPE
Head of Physical Education

Slippery Rock State Teachers College
B.S., Geneva College
M.A., University of Pittsburgh

Teacher, Aliquippa High School

ROGER JONES
Head of Health Department

Aliquippa High School
Shippensburg State Teachers College
B.A., Pennsylvania State College
M.A., University of Pittsburgh

Teacher, Aliquippa High School

Physical Training and Health

A sound body and self possession in emergencies: these have been the objectives of our activities in gym and in health classes. A well-organized program of physical coordination, hygiene, and first aid training has imparted to us confidence in our ability to cope with the problems of the ordinary routine of living and with any unexpected situation.

Edward J. Garda—Broken bones . . . the application of a splint . . . boys' health class

Thelma G. Carl—The care of injured persons . . . first aid . . . girls' health class

Elizabeth Carver—How to induce artificial respiration . . . girls' physical education class

Argirakis, Gust
Batchelor, Betty

Arnold, Mary Louise
Beckom, Lucille

FORTY-ONE

ADAMS—"Hersh," looking forward to a career in aviation, has greatly furthered the activities of the Kiwi Club. His character and leadership have earned him the title of scoutmaster in the Boy Scouts and a membership in the Hi-Y.

AFFENDAKIS—In the class room, on the dance floor, and at a football game Sophie is perpetually pleasant. With no sour notes, what grand memories she will have of Aliquippa High School!

BANKS—A member of the Dashing Debs, Eva Mae Delights in playing basketball and mushball; in fact, she likes all intramurals played at school. Besides, she is a devotee of parties and dances.

BALLOCK—We like Julia's contagious smile as well as her dimples. She favors English and history and has a prominent place as one of the first violins in the orchestra. "Are you still smiling, Julia?"

AGOSTINE—Although we have nicknamed her "Daffy," we are insinuating nothing. Toward her studies she is zealous and serious, and she spends her extra time in the Treble Clef and Bach Choir.

ANSLEY—"Honey" has an extraordinary plan for her future—she intends to be a mortician. This strange idea was born in biology class. She enjoys all sports and loves to sing with the happy Jenny Linds!

BAR—There being no more public figure than the football hero, little of "Paulie's" athletic achievements are unknown. He wears a well-earned laurel for his excellent work as captain of his football team. His outstanding record on the basketball team speaks for itself, too.

BARRETT — Representing our school in the Midwestern State Chorus, Norma Gene only added to her fine record of services as a member of the National Honor Society and Bach Choir. She plies a skillful needle in crocheting and embroidering, her favorite pastimes.

AGIRAKIS—"Gussie," a real friend at all times, a football player, and an auto mechanic, is going to help Uncle Sam. He plans to take a course in aeronautical engineering in which we feel certain he will make good.

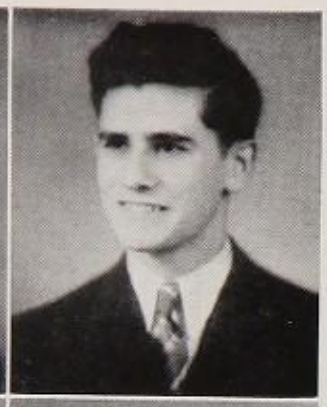
ARNOLD—When this well-known senior graduates, she will have to her credit a slendid athletic and scholastic record. The Leaders Club takes up her spare time, but her desire for learning First Aid is a definite step toward her nursing goal.

BATCHELOR — Active in girls' sports, Betty Jane has enjoyed herself immensely in the physical education department. Good plays rank first on her list of entertainments. To be a trained nurse is her only desire.

BECKOM—Lucille, athletically inclined, has unusual ability to "coordinate" well. Hence, she is an ace on her mushball team. She has a reputation for her fine cooking.

SENIOR CLASS

BEISTEL—A hot temper certainly is not characteristic of red hair in the case of easy-going Betty. Her ability in and love for music are exhibited in the band and in her church choir.



BERRYMAN—Lillian, one of the most cheerful students in our school, had the lead in the operetta, "Miss Caruthers Returns." Cue and Curtain and Treble Clef Clubs claim her as an active member.

BERGER—James, a studious lad who enjoys making new gadgets, is keen about chemistry and shop work. He is not only an outstanding member of the Chemistry Club, but he is also a stamp collector and an ardent nature lover.

BLACK—Duane, noted for his love of teasing, has a scientific mind. Biology, chemistry, and physics have always been his favorite subjects. After graduation he would like to become a pharmacist.

BLUE—Edith, a recent member of our school who hails from Georgia, is an excellent seamstress and a fine baker. She finds fun and relaxation in dancing and singing.

BOSNICH—Neat and trim in appearance, Katie is known to be exceptionally quiet. But if it is true that "still waters run deep," who knows what profound thoughts she may be concealing?

BONTEMPO—A camera fiend, a jitterbug, and an all-around good fellow describe John. The Hi-Y and his scientific interests keep him well occupied. He hopes to study aeronautical engineering.

BRADOVICH—John is the shop representative among the cheerleaders. "Punchy," a miniature edition of a human dynamo, thinks the auto mechanics are tops. Dancing, swimming, and skating are on his preferred list. He has frequently been a member of the Presidents Club.

BRAYACK, A.—Few can excel our "Berge" in the kitchen, for although she is especially interested in clerical work for the future, her hobbies are trying new recipes, reading, dancing, and listening to the radio.

BRENNEMAN—Don, Quippian Photographic Editor, is from the machine shop. Although photography is his main interest, he still finds time for football, ice skating, hunting, and collecting phonograph records. Then, too, he is an active member in the National Honor Society.

BRAYACK, G.—As ready to smile as he is to sell gasoline, "Pergie," despite his extra duties as a station attendant, still finds time to take an interest in baseball, football, and guns.

BRESLIN—Jim or "Whizz" is an all-around boy, who has never regretted his four years in the machine shop. He participates in baseball, boxing, and basketball and has jolly good fun when he "beats the drums."

Beistel, Betty
Berryman, Lillian
Blue, Edith
Bosnich, Katherine
Brayack, Ann
Brenneman, Donald

Berger, James
Black, Duane
Bontempo, John
Bradovich, John
Brayack, George
Breslin, James

BRESLIN—Wanting only to be a good mechanic, Pat has really taken an interest in his high school work. He thinks A. H. S. is tops, and he is out to make her proud of him.

BRIGHT—Patsy, one of the popular "Bright Twins," wants to become a nurse. Like her sister, she is an active member in the Cue and Curtain and Girl Reserves and on the Quippian staff.

CARBAUGH — Being an ardent swimmer and an excellent tumbler, Tom has spent much of his time pursuing the hobbies of swimming and tumbling. While in school he was an active member of the National Honor Society, Chemistry Club, and Hi-Y.

CASOLI—To Dan goes much of the credit for our having a successful basketball team. We also remember him as a football star. While he likes music and dancing, he hopes to make athletics his career.

BRIGHT—Peggy, like her twin, has membership in various clubs in school, including the National Honor Society, Cue and Curtain, Girl Reserves, and occupies a prominent place on the Quippian Staff as well. Her aspiration is to become a nurse.

BRIGHT, W.—In "Beanpole" we find a rare good nature coupled with a good sense of humor. He serves the Hi-Y as vice president and as one of its faithful ushers at football games. He is a member of the Quippian Committee, the National Honor Society, and the Biology Club, in which he has held several offices.

CERAVOLO—"Crevette," our Girls Athletic Editor, is one of our most versatile seniors. She has held responsible positions in the G. A. A., Leaders Club, National Honor Society, Cue and Curtain, Girl Reserves, the Student Observer Staff, the Bach Choir, and the Treble Clef.

CITARA—Andy, the Assistant Editor of the '41 Quippian, hails from the auto shop. His extra curricular activities consist of tennis — in which he is a champion—basketball, baseball, reading, and dancing. He has been the president of his home room many times and is an active member of the National Honor Society.

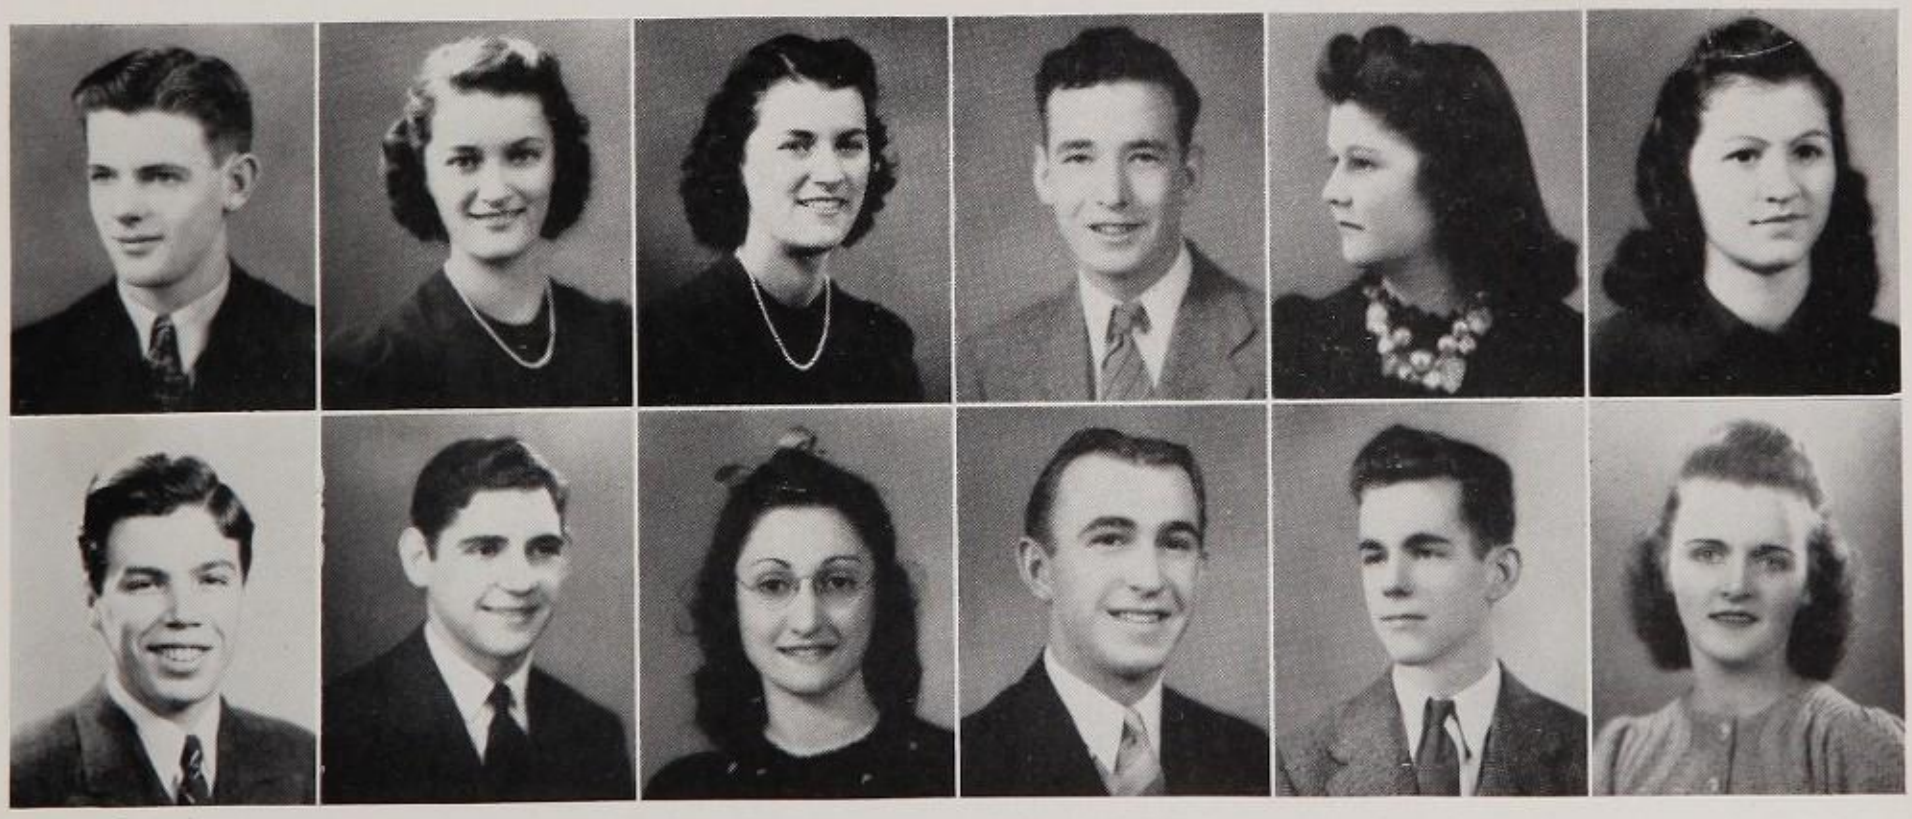
BROWNSCOMBE—Olive Jean has taken an active part in both the Leaders Club and the Girl Reserves. In the Leaders Club she has been program chairman and a delegate to the summer conference. Much of her time has been given to tennis and library work.

BUCAN—Daisy prefers to live on a farm where there is fragrant fresh air. A lover of all sports, she prefers mushball. Daisy has enjoyed every minute of her four years in A. H. S.

COCHRAN—Joe, unassuming yet studious, is practically an expert on that famous orchestra leader, Sammy Kaye. He has interviewed every member of the band. Joe belongs to the Forum Club and the Jr. Bucktails.

COMPEL—Margaret stands 5' 3", has green eyes, and is habitually chewing gum. She likes especially well to dance and bowl. Her position behind a typewriter will probably be quite evident in the future.

FORTY-ONE



Breslin, Patrick
Carbaugh, Thomas

Bright, Patricia
Casoli, Dan

Bright, Margaret
Ceravolo, Betty

Bright, William
Citara, Andy

Brownscombe, Olive
Cochran, Joe

Bucan, Daisy
Compel, Margaret

SENIOR CLASS

CONNOR—"Irish" is her nickname and Irish is her smile—too sweet and pleasant to be forgotten soon. Marion's favorite hobbies are singing, reading, and sewing. She hopes to attend Bible School.

CONSTANTINE — "Tall, dark, and handsome," that's our Frank. This six-footer has many interests but two rival the others, girls and sports. He finished his course in evening school.

CREIDER—Erwin is very courteous and always willing to help others. He plays in the orchestra and finds music his favorite hobby. Not far behind is his love for amateur photography.

CRISTINI—Distinguished in scholarship and earnest in purpose, Joe has quietly gained his laurels. As a member of the State Chorus and as president of Bach Choir, Presidents Club, and National Honor Society, there is ample proof that few are held in higher esteem than he.

CYCHOLL — Pleasant and popular, Gird's major success has been in the line of baseball. His most coveted award was the opportunity to play with the Pittsburgh Pirates for a week. Additional honors in various class activities speak for his other talents.

DAVIES—Eleanor is one of those rare pupils who can participate in many extra-curricular activities and still never miss the honor roll. She has given generously of her time and ideas to the Forum, the Quippian as Club Editor, Bach Choir, Treble Clef, Cue and Curtain, and the N. H. S.

DAVIS—Thelma is noted for her pleasant smile and good fellowship which have made her one of the most popular girls in her crowd. She enjoys all sports.

DAVIS—Smith, popular around the cafeteria, has been a great help in A. H. S. and in New Sheffield, where he has delivered papers for years. Right now he is employed by the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

DAVIDSON—"Duck," as Donald is usually called, intends to be an expert machinist or a tool maker. Math and trade practice interest him most in the Industrial Department; outside of school he prefers roller skating.

DELAY—Ray is the strong, silent type of a boy who usually keeps his opinions to himself until called upon. Collecting stamps and hunting are his hobbies. College is his ambition after graduating from high school.

DePIETRESS—Here is "Tar," a radio operator of the future! William has given his aid by connecting the public address system during assemblies, by taking part in plays, and by playing in football games. Another one of his hobbies is stamp collecting.

DeSENA—Margie is known all over school for her cute expression "H'ya, kid." She insists that chewing gum helps her to concentrate on her studies. On her list of amusements are orchestras and dancing.

DiVito, John
Dragosalovich, Mildred

Dodd, Carl
Drevna, Eugene

Dolnack, Steve
Drossman, Greta

FORTY-ONE

DIADDIGO—"Marge," shorthand wizard and typist for our school paper, has gained practical experience to fulfill her ambition of doing office work after graduation. Her most pronounced characteristic is her contagious good humor.

DICICCO — "Cacks," known for her genial smile and delightful personality, has plans for becoming an interior decorator. She also cuts a few neat designs on the dance floor.

DOMITROVICH—Mary is a student who has proved her elegibility as a member of the Home Economics Club by winning prizes in culinary competition. For exercise, she enjoys "bike-riding" and dancing very much.

DOMARACKI — Evelyn, known mostly by her gay laugh, is vice president of the Travel Club and a member of the Forum and Latin Clubs. Because of her participation in Intramural sports, she has won her second award. Her ambition is to become a nurse.

DIEWALD — Ellamay's greatest pleasure came when she was accepted into the Leaders Club. Much of her extra time is occupied in the intramural sports of our school.

DIVITO—John, one of our newest students, has been in America only a short time. Hats off to him for his scholastic success; he's an honor roll student. He excels in reading Latin; he sounds like an advanced college student!

DONALDSON—Alice will long be remembered for her friendliness and her willingness to accept her share of responsibility. She is an active member in the G. A. A., the Bach Choir, the Treble Clef, and the Quippian Committee.

DRAGOSALOVICH—"Mill's" hobbies are dancing, sports, and photography. She plans to continue commercial work, on which she has spent most of her time.

DODD—Carl, who lives in Coraopolis, came to night school in Aliquippa in order to finish his high school course. During the day this energetic youth clerks in the Streamline Market.

DOLNACK—Steve is a tall, blonde student, usually found in the chemistry lab. His leadership qualities will aid him in his ambition to become an officer in the Marine Corps.

DREVNA—Eugene's quiet personality appeals to all of us. Collecting cards and letters from foreign countries requires much of his spare time. After graduation he plans to become a chef.

DROSSMAN—Besides holding the responsible position of Associate Editor of the Student Observer, Greta also maintains a good scholastic average, plays the piano, belongs to the Forum Club, National Honor Society, and the '41 Quippian Committee.

SENIOR CLASS

DUBIS—Walter knows and appreciates the great out-of-doors. While he enjoys hunting and fishing, his perseverance in school has developed many talents. We have been proud to include him on our Quippian Staff.

DUBROWA—Mary is a blonde, athletic lassie who thinks school is wonderful. She is vice president of the senior class, a member of the Leaders Club, and of the Girls Athletic Association.

EPPLEY—Having worked at a service station for some time, Tom already has the air of a business man. He drives a Ford that is the envy of many even though it isn't the latest model.

ERB—Hazel, a commercial student, enjoys shorthand, typing, and office practice and has plenty of practice in these subjects by working on the Year Book Staff. She and her chum, Carol Messerly, illustrate "the long and the short of it."

ESTOK—"Essy," a zealous commercial student, has put her knowledge to excellent use by being Proof Editor of the Quippian. A hard worker, she finds relaxation in reading and dancing.

EVANS, E.—Being a prominent jitterbug and known for her attractive outfits, Elaine, our senior cheerleader, is quite popular. She excels in gym exhibitions, too, and her work as one of our typists is proof of her cheerful cooperation.

DUGGAN—"When Irish eyes are smiling" appropriately applies to "Bea." Besides being an industrious member of the Cue and Curtain and the Girl Reserves, she also goes in for tennis, swimming, and basketball.

EGER—Bernice contradicts the saying that a girl cannot be both attractive and intelligent. "Neicie" has demonstrated her abilities in the Cue and Curtain Club, Bach Choir, Treble Clef, Observer Staff, and the National Honor Society. She is also the efficient Copy Editor of the Quippian.

ERENSTEIN—No ordinary "polecat" is electrician "Ernie." He is a reporter on the Observer, treasure of the Bach Choir, and a member of the Boys Chorus. Among his hobbies are collecting stamps and helping with Boy Scout work.

ESTOK—John's most striking characteristics are his good nature and sportsmanship. No matter what sport or activity he is in, John always believes in fair play. Whistling and grinning to himself are well-known habits.

EVANS, M.—May Ethel's snappy black eyes reflect her sense of humor that makes her so easy to get along with. Modest about her own talents, her friends say she sings and sews very well.

EVANS, I.—Red-headed "Ivor," better known to some as "Henry Aldrich," proves his popularity and efficient leadership by acting as president of the Presidents Club, Hi-Y, and the National Honor Society. Senior Editor of the Quippian and an active member of the Cue and Curtain Club, he possesses unfailing wit which makes him a distinct personage.

EVASOVICH—Someday Nick desires to be a sports columnist, but now he's sports "collector." Did you ever hear him boast about his personally autographed photos of famous sportsmen and how he met Joe DiMaggio, Frank Crosetti, and Bob Pastor?

FABER—Although somewhat reserved, Teddy has plenty of "punch" on the gridiron. He held the coveted position of center on the county All-Star Eastern Team. While he jitterbugs occasionally, he prefers smooth dancing.

FOX—"Op" is one of our excellent skaters. Among her various pastimes are dancing and collecting souvenirs of movie stars. She is a zealous enthusiast of the Leaders Club.

FUDERICH—Goldie, excellent at shorthand, hopes to obtain a position in a large firm which she can serve with her superior ability. And here's something else about her; she's a fiend for cross-word puzzles!

FAGAN—"Tootie" is a bonnie lass who is very outstanding in her class. Many students know her for her "quaint laugh." If you want a job done above par, Maxine is the one to do it.

FAYAD—"Faye" enjoys dancing, sports, and hair dressing. It is in the latter field that she plans to work after graduation. Always happy and full of pep, she has countless friends.

FUDERICH — Known particularly for his skill in basketball and football, Pete is an all-around sportsman, a member of the National Honor Society and Varsity Club. Among his future plans is the desire to go through college.

GANO—"Gila" is sweet and lovely not only in appearance but also in disposition. She has more than earned her letter for good sportsmanship and is considered an asset to the Girl Reserves, Leaders Club, and the Cue and Curtain Club.

FEOLA—Expecting to become an elementary school teacher, "Ang" has proved her interests by her participation in the Future Teachers and the Travel Clubs. Her amiability and sincerity have attracted many friends.

FIGLEY—To say that Betty Jean is easy to get along with describes her to a "tee." She enjoys swimming, dancing, and roller skating. To be a saleslady after leaving school is her happy heart's desire.

GAFFNEY — Honorable mention goes to Rachel who, having transferred from rural North Dakota to our industrial community, quickly became acclimated. We especially enjoy listening to her pleasant voice. She has found fun in the Cue and Curtain and the Photography Clubs.

GARRETT—A lover of swing music and jitterbug, Orville played drums in our band for several years. Besides his hobbies, music and dancing, he likes hunting.

SENIOR CLASS

GASTFRIEND—Lovely black hair and blue eyes are two of Florence's outstanding characteristics. Her pleasant companionship and cooperative spirit have been appreciated by members of the Year Book and the Observer Staff.

GENTILE—For four years George has tried to gain all that the electrical course has had to offer; now he is set to lick the world. Students remember him for his helping hand.

GIOFRE—"Phil" always succeeds in completing what she begins. Basketball, mushball, and tennis provide her recreation. She also enjoys hiking, traveling, and canoeing. Her ambition is to be a good stenographer.

GEORGE—Genevieve is noted for her excellent cooking. She enjoys dancing and participates in girls' intramural mushball, volleyball, and bowling.

GOVIC—To become a master machinist is "Dooshi's" ambition. Besides collecting pictures of well-known celebrities in sports, Dan likes football, baseball, swimming, and dancing.

GRECO—Florence is one of the few quiet, serious-minded students we have. Such a personality is quite an asset to the Latin and Travel Clubs. She takes great pride in her many friends and her collection of current-event pictures.

GOYSIC—Besides having a very pleasing disposition, John is known to have enjoyed his high school days very much. Upon graduation he intends to become a successful bookkeeper. John is a debater who is apt to win any argument.

GULA—"Betts," one of our students who thinks school has been fun as well as work, enjoys collecting odd knick-knacks and photographs. In addition to all these interests, she has time to belong to the Travel Club.

GULA—Virginia's favorite subject is music. Her alto voice aids the Bach Choir and the Treble Clef in their many activities. Someday a fortunate orchestra will have Virginia as its featured vocalist.

HABAZIN—This commercial student is known chiefly for her happy disposition, her willingness to make new friends, and her service to the Quippian Staff. During Ann's leisure time hiking, bicycling, and reading amuse her.

HACKLER—A personable young miss, "Mid," member of the Girl Reserves, keeps in trim by bicycling and dancing. As to her secretarial aspirations, we can see her doing justice to her duties in any private office.

HALAMA—Margie, who is a real devotee of all sports, is indispensible to the Leaders Club and G. A. A. But her interests are not limited to this field; she is active also in the Bach Choir, the Quippian and the Observer Staffs, and the National Honor Society.

FORTY-ONE

HANICH—"Chuck," also known as "Blondie," is well-known for his skill in the electric shop. To him was given the opportunity to wire the model house built in Mr. Ciriacy's shop.

HANSHEW—Entertaining friends, roller skating, dancing, singing, reading good books, seeing good movies, and cheering for Aliquippa are Annabelle's pleasures and pastimes. The Girl Reserves and Leaders Club also take much of her time.

HOMYK—Mike is a versatile person who voices his opinions freely. While his greatest ambition is to see the world, he also enjoys his work in the Cue and Curtain Club.

HVIZGYAK—Mary, quite contrary and set in her ways, does not like modern swing nor does she care for jitterbugs. Splendid attributes, however, have found for her a place in the Bach Choir, Treble Clef, Alumni Bach Choir, and on the Quippian Staff.

HARB—This is one senior who enjoys watching the people dance more than participating himself. After graduation Mike would like to work in the mill. His greatest enjoyment comes from driving his car and fishing.

HERKOV—"Scholarship and service" briefly summarize Diana's attributes. As editor of the Observer, she is known to be most loyal and capable. Orchids to one who has found both work and honor in the Roman Senate, Bach Choir, World-Wide Acquaintance Club, National Honor Society, Treble Clef, and Creative Writing Club.

IORIO—In the athletic line. Constance prefers "spectator sports" except for ice skating and roller skating in which she has become quite proficient. She has been especially impressed by our spring festival. Lucky girl! She saw the Ice Follies last winter.

ISASKY—Like most of us, Helen likes to have a good time. Surely she could never be bored with all these interests: roller skating, dancing, collecting souvenirs, attending movies, reading, and the Travel Club.

HIGHBERGER—"Smitz" is that cheerful blonde boy who gets most of his enjoyment by teasing girls and teachers. President of the Chemistry Club, he is very much interested in this field, in which he hopes to major.

HILEMAN—Betty's general ability is revealed by her contribution to swimming, driving, reading, and bicycling. She is a member of the Quippian Staff, Future Teachers, Cue and Curtain, and the Observer Staff.

JOHNSTON, L.—While being on the honor roll has become a habit with Loretta, we praise her most of all for her exceptional dependability. Quietly capable and efficient, she has been active in the Girl Reserves, the National Honor Society, the Student Observer, and the Future Teachers, of which she is president.

JOHNSTON, R.—Ruth has spent many hours after school working as a typist on the Student Observer. She is always ready to be of assistance to her teachers or school. After graduation she plans to attend a business school.

Kandra, Matilda
Kazina, Louise
Kerns, Althea
Kinniard, Betty Jane

Jones, Betty Lois
Jugan, John
Kanyak, Margaret
Kemp, Elfreda
King, Mabel
Kline, Edna

JONES—"Jonesy" is a great sportsman and especially enjoys "whipping the other team to a frazzle." Baseball, basketball, and hunting are his favorite pastimes.

JONES—Betty prefers square dancing to jitterbugging and always manages to have real fun. Her treasure chest of memories include thoughts about her favorite subject, bookkeeping, the prom, the spring festival, and Cameron Beck, an inspirational speaker.

KANDRA—"Tillie" is a quiet, friendly girl, who actively pursues the sports our school offers. What time she has left is spent knitting, dancing, and listening to the radio.

KANYAK—Peggy, a little blonde Academic student with plenty of pep, devotes most of her energy to mushball and jitterbugging. Margaret plans to use this vitality to become a nurse.

KERNS—"Thede," as we all know her, has a pleasant personality and a good sense of humor. Many prefer her friendship, for she is loyal, trustworthy, and sincere. She is a member of the Leaders Club.

KING—While we are proud of "Kingy's" record in girls' intramural sports, she enjoys other athletic contests as a spectator. She likes sewing, too, and is an enthusiastic philatelist.

JONES—Peggy, a carefree lass with a cheerful air, plans to attend Pittsburgh Academy after graduation. Later we shall hear of Peggy as a private secretary, her one ambition right now.

JUGAN — John "Jughead" Jugan plans to continue his work as an auto mechanic by enlisting in the army air corps. Full of fun and curiosity, he delights in tinkering with motors that are not in running order.

KAZINA—Louise has an interest in many different fields. Although she desires to become either a secretary or a nurse, her hobbies revolve around music. She lends a helping hand toward the Bach Choir and Treble Clef.

KEMP—"Freda" is a light-haired lassie who possesses an agreeable personality. Photography and traveling are her choice hobbies. As a member of the Travel Club, she is invaluable.

KINNIARD—Betty enjoys all outdoor sports but really excels in tennis. Because she makes friends easily and inspires confidence, we know she will make good at her chosen profession—nursing.

KLINE—Edna is quiet and retiring but peppy, too. She shares enthusiastically in the activities of the Girls Athletic Association. Then, too, she makes her own clothes which show expert handiwork.

KNOX—"Eck" spends a great deal of his time experimenting with radios. Hence, he expects to attend a radio school. With his other interests, the Hi-Y, stamp collecting, and roller skating, he keeps quite active.

KODA—Who dares predict how far Joe may stray if he never tired of running? As a fleet-footed veteran of our track team, he is also occasionally overcome by "wanderlust." Another secret—he yearns to be a mining engineer.

KUBANDA—Bertha's ambition is to achieve distinction in the stenographic field. Outside of the commercial field, her favorite diversions are reading, movies, and hiking.

LABOON—"Prissie," demure and sweet, has many interests which are expressed through her membership in the Girl Reserves, Magazine Club, Bach Choir, G. A. A., Leaders Club, Treble Clef, Student Observer Staff, National Honor Society, Cue and Curtain, and the Quippian Committee. She has always been a thorough, painstaking student.

KOST—With the completion of more extensive courses, this future beautician hopes to join the army of hair stylists. She works willingly in the Leaders Club and on the Student Observer Staff.

KOVAC—Very dependable and with remarkable perseverance in his work, John ranks high in scholastic attainments. He is a member of the cross-country team, Year Book Staff, and the National Honor Society.

LACKEY—A member of the band more ardent than Blair is yet to be found. His greatest enjoyment is traveling with it to the various out-of-town games. He has always enjoyed school and will attend college after graduation.

LEHMAN — "More work, more fun" seems to be Corinne's motto. After school she works for the Observer and Quippian or practices with the orchestra and string ensemble. In her free time she dances, swims, reads, or rides a bicycle.

KOZLINA—Besides school, Betty's main interest is in hair dressing. Having gained much practical experience by creating new styles for her friends in school, Betty will, no doubt, be successful in beauty culture.

KRONK—"Oo-la!" what a girl, this busy editor of our Year Book! In leadership, in scholarship, in service, "Marge" excels. She has held offices in numerous groups; in all she has proved her capability. Outstanding is her work in the Girl Reserves, National Honor Society, Future Teachers Club, as well as that on the Quippian.

LEONARD—If you were to ask around school who can make the best cakes, who can tell the funniest jokes, and who can display the finest hand-made rugs, you would surely hear Earladeen's name.

LEVKO—To some, Mary is known for her smiles and her fine sense of humor; to others, as one of the school's best "rug-cutters." A versatile lassie, she collects photographs, sews, and works for the Quippian.

SENIOR CLASS

LE VISEUR—Peggy's favorite hobbies are such sports as swimming, dancing, tennis, ice skating, and basektball. To become a teacher is Peggy's ambition. Her ability to understand small children will help her in her chosen profession.

LUCCI—Bill's colorful career in high school was climaxed when he was elected treasurer of the '41 Senior Class. Bill has worked for our football team and occupies a place on the Quippian Staff.

McFARLAND—Here's another electrician, who enjoys the practical value of math. His executive ability is expressed in his Scout Troop, which utilizes his time after school.

MACHUPA—"Chupie" wins many friends by her ever present smile. She is a grand cook and, therefore, lends support to the Home Economics Club. She plays in the orchestra and also shows her musical talent by singing.

McINTOSH—Beth, attractive with her dark hair and blue eyes, finds music her favorite pastime. She belongs to the Treble Clef and Bach Choir, but interior decorating enters into her future plans.

McKENZIE—Kenny is characterized by his true friendship. Happy and carefree, he is always the spark for much laughter in the classroom. He enjoys taking part in all sports.

LUDWICO—"Mouse," a member of our Varsity football squad, belongs to the 1941 Quippian Sport Staff. Pleasant, popular, and polite, he is admired by all who know him. He plans to go to a trade school after graduation.

LUKETICH—"Evy," with her singing and yodeling of cowboy songs, has frequently been the life of the party, for she collects western songs and has a splendid repertoire.

McCLURE — Many students have sought Imogene's friendship and courtesy. She has shown her faithfulness in the Leaders Club, Girl Reserves, Quippian Staff, and as president of the Cue and Curtain Club, and the National Honor Society.

McCOY—"Betty" is the attractive blue-eyed blonde who is usually seen driving to school. Her cheerfulness and sunny disposition will be an asset to her when she enters the nursing field.

McMULLEN—Catherine, one of our faithful Commercial students, finished her high school course in evening school. At present she is a diligent stenographer for Superintendent Bodkin at the new Hopewell Township High School.

McPEEK—Here's the boy who is really appreciative of his opportunity to study carpentry in the Industrial Course. Often he has helped decorate the gym for our many dances.

FORTY-ONE

MANCINI—"Hen," a true music lover, collects records, plays in the band, and has even composed several beautiful selections. He wishes to continue his study of music and to have an orchestra of his own some day.

MANDICH—A participant in intramural basketball, mushball, volleyball, hockey, Sara aims to become a good swimmer and an efficient bowler. Much of her time out of school is devoted to the St. Elijah Jr. Choir of the Serbian Orthodox Church.

MEEHAN—Where there is laughter, there you will find Lois, for she is considered the life of the party wherever she goes. Her school activities include membership in the Girl Reserves, Presidents Club, and the Cue and Curtain Club, of which she is vice president.

MESSERLY—With a charm that is individually hers, Carol has attracted many friends. In the classroom she is an outstanding student; in the home room she has frequently served as president.

MANN—"Shorty" is the wee miss, who proves her ability in sports by possessing a coveted Dashin Debs jacket. Her vivacity is also appreciated in the Jenny Lind Club, the Bach Choir, and on the Quippian Staff.

MANSUETTI — Chiefly popular among the boys, Henry expects to become an A-No. 1 electrician some day. He enjoys spending his leisure hours at billiards, or at the radio with his favorite orchestra leader, Glenn Miller.

MIAZGOWICZ—Handsome Joe is one of those fellows silent in speech and yet great in deed. He goes about doing his daily tasks with a tremendous amount of success. Easy-going, versatile Joe is the president of the Senior Class and an active member of the National Honor Society.

MIHALIK—Jean is the best bowler we have in school. Some say she even "bowls" the boys over to her side, especially the athletes. She makes many "strikes" at our school socials.

MARAVICH—Did you ever see Mae, nicknamed "Mimmie," when she wasn't smiling? She manages to have a good time for herself wherever she goes. Her secret—she's full of fun herself. Cue and Curtain Club claims much of her excess energy.

MARTIN—Only a girl like Peg could belong to the G. A. A., the Chemistry Club, Leaders' Club, Treble Clef, and the Bach Choir, and still be able to make an outstanding scholastic record. Peg will surely succeed in anything she attempts.

MIKULA—As one of our "grease-monkeys," we find Johnny a real pal. His favorite expression, "Smile pretty," tells us that he is a happy-go-lucky fellow. John has proved himself a very prominent helper of the Quippian.

MILLER—Betty is an outstanding example of a pretty girl, who is also scholarly and active in extra-curricular affairs, such as the Senatus Romanus, Bach Choir, Treble Clef, National Honor Society, and the Quippian Committee. In her leisure time she enjoys playing the piano.

SENIOR CLASS

Miller, Ruth
Monyak, Dorothy
Morgan, Margaret
Morrison, Kenneth
Myers, Vera
Nalli, Laura
Montini, Emilio
Morgan, John
Morris, Margaret
Musolin, Dorothy
Naddour, Elsie Jane
Nary, Armella

MILLER—Here's a big bundle of energy, as well as quiet poise wrapped up in a small package. Besides her many school activities Ruth still finds time to take voice lessons. Hence, she has traveled to Greenville and Carlyle to sing with the Mid-western and State Choruses.

MONTINI—Appropriately known as the "he-man" of the shop, Zon is always busy. He is a good machinist and a first rate jitterbug; he works in a gas station, collects magazines, and makes a hobby of wood-craft.

MORGAN, M.—Margaret Morgan is perfectly at home on the dance floor. How we envy her partners! During the summer Margaret spends most of the time swimming.

MORRIS—Margaret is a tiny Southern belle, full of pep and vitality. She takes the Commercial course and does very well for herself. Her cute Southern drawl and friendly personality have won her many friends.

MYERS—Vera is a pleasant and dependable lass who offers her services cheerfully whenever they are needed. Although one of our Home Economic girls, she has also learned to "parlez-vous."

NADDOUR—Vivacious, black-haired Dolly is the picture of vitality. Her name appears on the rolls of the Quippian Committee, Leaders Club, G. A. A., and Student Observer. Swimming, bowling, and hockey are her favorite sports.

MONYAK—For such a little girl, "Dot" can make a lot of music, and good music, too, with her violin. Her other hobbies are saving coins and reading good books.

MORGAN—John is a boy with lots of "grit" and determination, which is proved by his school work. After graduation he plans to enroll in the electrical engineering department in college.

MORRISON—'You guys" is most frequently quoted by a future leader in the business world. "Jesse" is our Quippian business manager. Hunting, guns, basketball, football, and baseball are among his widely varied interests. Recently he was elected to the National Honor Society.

MUSOLIN—Dorothea's friendly personality is shared by many more friends through her correspondence with students of foreign countries. Her designing and dressmaking talents are revealed by the beautiful dresses that she makes.

NALLI—Membership in the Bach Choir and the Treble Clef reveal Laura's musical interests. Furthermore, her frequent appearances on the dance floor denote another outlet for her love of rhythm.

NARY—"Mella's" most outstanding characteristic is her friendly, quiet, and refined manner. Such a person will, no doubt, become an ideal secretary.

NICASTRO—Vera's characteristics are gentleness and calmness—and she shines in typing, health, and history. She is one of the competent Observer Staff.

NICKLAS—A serious minded person, in whom her classmates confide, is gracious, sympathetic Tacy. Learning to drive an auto stands high among her many experiences. As a copy reader for the Boys Sports Staff, she has worked energetically and untiringly.

PADAK — Marge would rather dance than do anything else. She desires to study beauty culture and hopes to have her own beauty shop someday.

PADGETT — "Levit," tall and strong, aspires to be a great ball player, but at the same time he thinks that experiences in the army or navy would be very thrilling.

OCHALEK—Josephine, a new student in our school from Scott Township High, Carnegie, is interested in secretarial work. Sports, dancing, and movies occupy her leisure time.

ORSAG—Elected Good Citizen of the '41 Class, "Prof," tall and slender, is a serious-minded gentleman who keeps abreast of international affairs. Scholastically, he stands high among his classmates. John has proved himself a valuable member of the Quippian and the National Honor Society.

PALUZZI—"Puzzi," as Eli is known to his pals, wants to be a traveling salesman. Dependable as he is likeable, he will no doubt have success. That he enjoys symphony music is his secret . . . and delight!

PAPPAS—A person who likes to sing and dance as well as Gus is sure to get a lot of fun out of life. Loyal to the home town, he plans to find employment with J. and L.

OZIMOK—Called "Ace" by her friends, Anna takes keen delight in sewing and photography. She has won several state awards for sewing. How she would like to be a traveling companion!

OSKOWSKI—The girl who can tell you who is who in baseball and is everlastingly talking about it is Ella. She writes biographies for the Observer and is a member of the 1941 Quippian Staff. She has a host of friends in A. H. S.

PASTERIK—Mike's an electrician with an interest in athletics as a sideline and with a fond desire to work in the mill. He is the sort of boy who keeps home room programs active and worthwhile.

PAVOLKO—Blonde Dotty hopes to become a nurse. During her high school days, she has been an alert and active member of the Girl reserves, Observer Staff, Quippian Committee, and Chemistry Club.

SENIOR CLASS

PERDUE—A member of the Dashing Debs and of the Peppy Pals, Emily spends her leisure hours on the dance floor or at the radio listening to popular dance bands. However, other favorite pastimes are sewing and intramurals.

POWELL—"Wheaties," a member of the Alpha-Zeta Hi-Y and an all-round athlete and gentleman, has played varsity and has run on the '38 track team. He intends to become a coach or a writer.

PICCIONI—Fran is impressed by the extra-curricular activities to which a student of our school may belong. The Student Observer and Year Book have benefited by Frances' services.

PRATCHENKO—Nick is a neat, alert, and ambitious fellow, who loves to eat. He'd rather fish and camp than play at sports. His greatest ambition is to work in one of the U. S. Naval bases as a machinist.

PRISUTA—Pleasant Bronko, Notre Dame's most devoted follower, hopes to be one of our future journalists. Especially does the technique of the short story interest him. He plans to attend Indiana State Teachers College upon graduation.

PROSPER—Enthusiastic about school life, John is always eager to get as much as possible out of all his subjects, especially shop and history. Bowling and raising pigeons keep John busy outside of school.

PROSPER—Although he is small in stature and shy in manner, Alfred manages to take his place with the best of them. Believe it or not, he is one who can still blush.

PROSSER—Evan worked for two years to maintain Aliquippa High's fine basketball record. When he was not busy with the team, he participated in the Hi-Y meetings enthusiastically.

PUKACH—Besides belonging to several musical clubs, the Bach Choir and Treble Clef, Helena has worked at the circulating desk in our high school library. For amusement she loves to tell jokes.

PUSKARICH — Caesar, Virgil, and Cicero have interested "Sil" in high school so much that she would like to continue Latin in college. Faithfully she attends the meetings of the Senatus Romanus, and seldom has her name missed the honor roll.

PURDIE—Lois, always cheerful and full of good humor, is very fond of swimming, dancing, and reading. Enrolled in the commercial course, she is planning to become a secretary, and an efficient one, we know.

RADOVICH—This winsome young lady hopes to become a beautician. Her friendly personality will make her, no doubt, a success wherever she goes. Ann prefers the movies to any other type of enjoyment.

FORTY-ONE

NEISH—A lover of good music, Mildred does her part as a first violinist in our orchestra besides being president of the Travel Club. She maintains her scholastic standards by being on the honor roll consistently.

RADULOVICH—A love for commercial law and office practice has made Dorothy's high school days happy. She follows the crowd in her love of dancing, reading, and skating.

REBICH—"Tootsie" has befriended us all as a treasurer of the Student Loan Association. She is an active participant in all girls' intramural sports and in her home room, of which she has been president and secretary during her senior year.

REGOVICH—A careful and capable commercial student, "Rag's" hopes to enter the beautician field. However, she confines much of her time to movies, sports, and dancing.

RADUT—"Chubby," a rather short specimen of the female species, attends to her lessons with an intelligent mind and equal promptness. At home she likes to cook and read.

RALICH—To Nellie goes credit for helping to provide many good meals in the cafeteria. She has musical talent which is shown not only in the Bach Choir but among friends as well.

REICH—Betty is a true friend to all who know her. Her membership in the G. A. A. and the Leaders Club denote her athletic interests. She is one of our most ardent rooters at all varsity games.

RIDLEY—Clara expects to enter a business school after graduation. A loyal Jenny Lind member, she's an individual of strange contrasts. She "devours" gangster stories and also writes original poetry.

RUMMUNNO—"Red," shy, likeable, and scholarly, has been a home room officer many times. He also gives his services to the Chemistry Club, Boys Chorus, and the orchestra. His hobbies consist of all sports and music.

REBICH, M.—A marching sensation, our drum major has "rhythm in her toes." Because of genuine sincerity and splendid cooperation at all times, she is loved by everyone. Among her numerous hobbies are dancing, reading, and football games.

RINALDI—Antionette, an evening school student, is much interested in salesmanship, for she hopes to become a clerk after graduation. Besides reading, she enjoys going to the movies and listening to the radio.

ROBERTSON—Edith Mae is the girl with the expressive blue eyes and dark brown hair, who takes an active part in the Girl Reserves, Cue and Curtain, and G. A. A. Her plans for the future are in the nursing field. She is an outstanding member of our famous bowling team!

ROBINSON—Eva Mae's competence in leadership is well illustrated in the fact that she has held various offices at school. At present the Dashing Debs are under her guidance. Her ability to make friends easily is a great asset to her.

ROCK—Besides being Assistant Sports Editor on the Quippian, Steve has played on the varsity baseball team and secretly aspires to professional baseball. He dances incessantly. To quote the fortune teller, "He's irresistible to women."

RUBINO—"Corky's" favorite expression, "you hammer head," is well known to her friends. She has been a participant in Quippian activities and the Forum Club. A leader, she has held several home room offices during her high school years.

RUBY—When he is not too busy doing his school work, bright-eyed, red-cheeked George collects stamps and also pictures of beautiful girls. He would like to be employed as a machinist by the federal government after graduation.

SALVATI, B.—A collector of pictures of movie stars, stamps, and postal cards, curly-haired Edith hopes to attend a business school. Though not especially a devotee of sports, she frequents the Orpheum Bowling Alley.

SALVATI, W.—Better known as "Wolf," Bill is now employed at the J. and L. Corporation. Though busy, he finds time to bowl or shoot pool. His one ambition is to become an orchestra leader like Perry Wolf with his "howling mates."

ROSS—You'll always find Fred humming the newest hits. He's a man with a camera—that's his hobby. However, chemistry is his true love.

RUBINO—Special credit goes to Anita who is not satisfied until she has done her best. Always pleasant, she is known as a faithful worker on the Observer and Quippian Committee.

RUSCITTI—In the way of preparation for her future work, a sales clerk, Anita is a faithful worker on the business staff of the Observer and a willing typist for the Quippian.

RUSHMAN—"Onie" has enjoyed her senior year in high school most. One of her many talents is the art of sewing. Usually she is found merrily chewing gum.

SAMBOL—Annabelle's work on the Observer and Quippian Staff is proof of her dependability, efficiency, and cheerful cooperation. But she likes fun, too, and all the G. A. A.'s know her as a good sport.

SAMOVOSKI—"Barb," who takes the home economics course, always has a pleasant smile. Quiet and demure, she will some day be an invaluable asset in that most important "home" for which she is now getting her training!

SEERY—"John" is strictly an outdoor man finding football, baseball, softball, and fishing to his taste. He conserves some of his energy, however, for the Chemistry and Hi-Y Clubs.

SEMICH—Genevieve takes part in sports, but she is really partial to intramural basketball. Some day this energetic person hopes to secure a job in which she can use her stenographic ability.

SHOTT—John is the most bashful boy in the Senior Class. While most of us prefer to keep our feet on terra firma, John's plans after graduation lie in the aviation field.

SIMONI—Ann is an outstanding home economics student. Presiding at the meetings of the Home Economics Club, she reveals her fine qualities of leadership. This vivid brunette would like to be a seamstress.

SHADDOCK—Shad, a twentieth century Burroughs, loves the great outdoors even though he spends most of his time at the A. and S. office. Naturally, hunting and fishing occupy his spare moments.

SHAFFER—"Art" would like to become a chemist or appear on a sponsored musical program. He has some rather set ideas on subjects concerning his high school. In fact, he says it is the best around and that he will never forget it.

SIMONI—Short, sweet, and charming, Ann finds her interests in the commercial field. Besides clerking in her father's store, she finds time to do a great deal of reading and to enjoy good movies.

SIMONI—"Minnie" serves as a very capable treasurer of the Home Economics Club. She excels in cooking and is known, too, as an extremely good seamstress; in fact, a prize winner.

SHANK—"Frannie" is an excellent student, who goes about her many activities conscientiously. Besides the Bach Choir, Orchestra, National Honor Society, Girls Athletic Association, and Leaders Club, she has a clerking job, which keeps her time well occupied.

SHERROD—What a cook! Our Virginia can make anybody's mouth water. She does not care especially for sports, but she does love to travel and sing with the Jenny Linds.

SIMUNICH—Who doesn't like to hear Bob laugh? He belongs to the Photography Club and the Chemistry Club of which he has been secretary. His greatest joy is developing his own pictures.

SMOLANOVICH—Dolly likes to sing while she works. Always sociable and surrounded by friends, this popular girls hopes to become a stenographer or a worker in some branch of the commercial field.

SENIOR CLASS

SNOW—"Snowy" has served our school well. He is a member of the National Honor Society, Quippian Committee, and Library Club, in nearly all of which he has held office. The field of aeronautical engineering is his choice for the future.

SPOKART—Our Jimmy loves, best of all, to drive his new 1940 Plymouth. Being an accomplished swimmer, he boasts of several prizes. Dan Cupid is his third interest.

SUDER—"Tode," as this lad is generally known, is an "up and coming" ball player. Although he participates in other sports, baseball holds his interests. To become a professional player, like his brother, Pecky Suder, is his goal.

SULLIVAN—A sportsman through and through, Mario takes part in every major sport and really knows what it's all about. His keen sense of humor and upright character have won him many friends.

SYLVESTER—Delphine, an attractive miss with pretty black hair and sparkling brown eyes, is one of the most cooperative girls in school, especially in the attendance office. Her cheerful manner has endeared her to all the students.

TADDEO — Jennie's greatest thrill came when she was awarded first prize in a baking contest. She not only cooks but also sews. Many of the costumes for gym exhibitions and plays have been made by her.

STANKOVICH—"Annie" is a quiet but ambitious student. She has done good work in the commercial department and hopes to be a stenographer some day. Her hobbies include participating in several sports, especially swimming.

STETTLER—Jack is a well-mannered lad, popular with everyone. He holds important offices in the Hi-Y and the Cue and Curtain Club. Being musically inclined, he is a staunch member of the band and orchestra.

SUSNJAR—Tall, fair, and handsome, well describe our football hero, Nick. This well-built "Hercules" has won several rewards for shot-puts. The Varsity Club is proud of his record.

SWERINGEN—If "Bette" can be a successful beautician, she will be content. Besides curricular activities she enjoys the movies, traveling, and driving around town in a car full of high school students.

TARAPCHAK—Gay and laughing, "Chappy" or "Traps" holds several sewing awards. She is active in the Leaders Club, Forum Club, and the Quippian Staff. After sewing, dancing and swimming top her list of pastimes.

TAYLOR—A cheerful disposition has made "Polly" a dearly-prized friend. She has shown much talent in sewing, and as a dancer, she may well be classified as an expert. Being popular in sports, she is a member of the Dashing Debs.

FORTY-ONE

THOMAS—Whenever you want a favor done, Fred is the first to volunteer. Because he is good-natured and full of fun, he has many friends. Fred is also considered a good salesman.

THOMAS—Marian's pleasing personality is admired by all her friends and acquaintances. She is an active member of the Girl Reserves. To be a nurse is among her future plans.

TROMBULAK—Desirous of becoming a vocational teacher, George has certainly started out on the right foot. With his many extra-curricular activities and excellent work in holding class offices, he has more than earned his place in the National Honor Society.

VAFEAS—Placing a drawing in the National Scholastic Exhibition in the Carnegie Museum held the greatest thrill in Bill's life. He is the Art Editor of the Quippian and enjoys competing in sport events.

TODORA — Dark-eyed "Frannie" makes use of her ability not only in well-prepared lessons, but also in the channels of the Treble Clef, Bach Choir, and Cue and Curtain Clubs.

TONDA—"Al" has many likes, especially mathematics. He is an outstanding student in bookkeeping and expects to attend a business college. To the school and to his home room, he has contributed invaluable service.

VALIGA—A carefree and a happy attitude toward life is "Mike's" outstanding feature. Included in his hobbies are swimming, boxing, and outdoor life. His capability as a dancer pleases many feminine students.

VANNAUKER—Jean is the shy little, dark-haired girl who always comes to school with her lessons prepared. In commercial work she is regarded an excellent, painstaking student. Listening to musical programs and reading good books take up her time out of school.

TORBICH—Fun-loving and carefree, but with an eye toward the future, Anita has completed the General Course. Her ambition, which she is already preparing to fulfill, is to become a dress designer.

TRENARY — Charlotte's most prized possession is her interesting collection of post cards. She is a very jolly person and has done extensive extra-curricular work. She is one of the Business Committee of the Year Book and also a class room reporter.

VELGOS—When it comes time to put up the Christmas trimmings next year, Paul will be sadly missed. In home room decorating and electrical work, Paul has done his bit for four years. Better known, perhaps, is his career on the gridiron where he played right guard.

VIDOVICH — Dark, attractive "Viddy" has centered her ambition along the commercial line. Because of loyalty to her friends, she is popular both in school and in the community.

SENIOR CLASS

Volitich, Nick
Vucinich, George
Weitzel, Jack
Westman, Helen
Williams, Donis
Woolsey, Vernon
Voynik, George
Walters, Olive
Westlake, Marion
Whitehill, Bob
Williamson, MarJeanne
Wukas, Mike

VOLITICH—While Nick holds no office on our staff, he knows a great deal about the editorship. However, he has received recognition for his three years' work on the football and basketball teams. What an athlete!

VOYNICK — Collecting pictures of football and baseball players is George's hobby. He has never forgotten the experience he had when his boat capsized. After graduation he plans to work in the mill.

WEITZEL—Jack, well-known president of the band and president of his home room, has given many trumpet solos in assemblies and has worked diligently for the betterment of the Hi-Y and the orchestra. Enjoying music as he does, he plans to further this study after graduation.

WESTLAKE—"Westy" is endeared to her friends in the Cue and Curtain Club, Leaders' Clubs, and Girl Reserves through her sincerity and genial disposition. She is especially interested in athletics, and we think she'll make a grand "health-ed" teacher.

WILLIAMS—With a personality as cheerful as her numerous smiles, Donis has won many friends. She is a faithful worker on our Quippian. Following graduation she plans to go to a business school.

WILLIAMSON—Always humorous and ready with a good joke, MarJeanne gets great enjoyment out of life. She is a member of the Girl Reserves, Cue and Curtain, and Math Club. MarJeanne is popular at all social events.

VUCINICH—After graduation George expects to take a Civil Service examination, for he is interested in police work and law. History, English, and business law are subjects which George expects to find most useful.

WALTERS—Olive holds a fascination for beautiful music and has already won her letter in that field. She holds membership in the Bach Choir and the Library Club. Often the Attendance Office has benefited by Olive's helpfulness.

WESTMAN—In Helen we have a good combination of someone who is both peppy and studious. She enjoys all the intramural sports for girls as a member of the G. A. A. She is quite adept at making and keeping friends.

WHITEHILL—"Whitey," a peppy chap, keeps things lively in the Hi-Y and Cue and Curtain Club. When not kidding the girls, he vents his talents on the cornet.

WOOLSEY—"Farmer" has a smile for everybody and a wise-crack for every occasion. He is interested in outdoor sports and likes to meet new friends. In school he excels in commercial law and bookkeeping.

WUKAS—Mike aspires to be a professional boxer. He has been engaged in a number of amateur bouts with real success. Someday we may boast about the champion who was our classmate.

YANAK—"Al" is a chap who has valiantly plugged away at his school problems. He has taken upon himself the duties of the business manager of the Quippian. In September he plans to attend Antioch College.

YURCICH—"Toots" has ambitions to take up brick laying in a professional way, for he wants to find out what Carnegie Tech has to offer in this line. He holds the record for having been at all home varsity games.

ZORKOVICH—Having been transferred from Lorain High School, "Jo" is a comparatively new student in Aliquippa High. However, she spends a great deal of her time on the Student Observer and on outside reading for her classes.

ZUNAC—"Kay" takes life seriously and is very agreeable. Having musical talent, she plays in a Croatian orchestra. In her spare time she dances and collects photographs.

XILLAS—With no favorites in studies but a general love for all of them, "Smitty's" only complaint is, "No girls in the Industrial Course." To be a mechanical engineer is his aim.

ZAMBORY—Ann is one girl who is always willing to take on responsibility. She participates in the activities of the National Honor Society, Cue and Curtain, Creative Writing, Future Nurses, and Girls Athletic Clubs. She believes her future lies somewhere in the field of medicine.

ZUNICH—"Bob" or "Slim" is one of our capable tennis players. In past years he has also demonstrated his fine ability in bookkeeping. He is always neat and well dressed.

McKISSICK—Ever since he participated in a certain Latin assembly, George has been known as "Senator." Perhaps this will be a spur to his ambition. Shall we meet you on Capital Hill some day, George?

ZAPOTOCKY—Andrew is one boy who doesn's like to talk to girls but does like to travel. That's why he wants to join a major baseball league.

ZERNICH—Always lending a helping hand, "Millie" has faithfully served the Student Loan under Mrs. Martin's guidance. In addition, she has occupied a place in the Presidents Club.

POWELL—"Sweetie," a spirited lass with an inbred sense of rhythm, helps to keep the Jenny Lind in full swing. Among her favorite pastimes are dancing, skating, and writing.

SRABO — From West Aliquippa comes the coy little girl with large blue eyes, blonde hair, and a soft, sweet voice. During the past year she has been a loyal student in our evening school.

Our 1940 football team won no titles, but the boys played hard and square and produced their quota of gridiron thrills. We opened the season in great style, winning with comparative ease over Sewickley and Freedom in non-league contests. In these games the team showed promising power, speed, and effectiveness in tackling and blocking; it seemed to be heading for a record like that of the 1936 team which was undefeated. Butler proved a stumbling block, and then the strong Midland team, which later won the section crown, took us into camp.

This was the situation as we came up to the crucial game with Ambridge, undefeated and untied at the time and pointing for the AA championship. This is the Harvard-Yale or Army-Navy game in Beaver Valley. The winner counts its season a success regardless of the outcome of its other games. The game was played on a snow-covered gridiron, and our boys fought their hearts out and held the Bridgers scoreless. True, we failed to score, but the scoreless tie was a fine moral victory for our gridiron warriors.

Our boys then proceeded to upset a highly touted Ellwood City eleven by a 7-0 score and trounced a fighting Beaver Falls team 14-0 the following week. The season ended with a 20-0 victory over the New Brighton boys, who were unable to cope with an Aliquippa eleven which had developed into a smart, powerful, and aggressive outfit.

After the season Bar and Carmandi were selected on the mythical all-county team, and five of our seniors, Bar, Fuderich, Ferry, Faber, and Carmandi, were honored by selection as members of the West team to play in the benefit game arranged between all-star teams from the east and west sides of the Ohio River Mr. Lippe handled the West team, which won the game, and Mr. Rubenstein of Ambridge coached the East team.

The Garda-coached reserves, who won all their games last season as they have for the past two years, will be ready for varsity competition next year; they are expected to furnish some steady players for the 1941 team.

The resignation of Coach Lippe, who had served as Aliquippa's football coach for the past fourteen years, was made public after the East-West game.

Aliquippa's basketball team this year turned out to be the best in the history of the school. Though starting out the season rather inauspiciously with close wins and two losses in pre-season games, our quintet gained momentum as the season progressed, defeated decisively all league competition, and won the championship of Section III of the W.P.I.A.L. with a record of ten victories and no defeats.

In the W.P.I.A.L. playoffs, Aliquippa beat Coraopolis and Monessen in the quarter finals and semi-finals, advancing to the championship contest only to lose a heart-breaking game to the polished Duquesne team, which had one of the best aggregations ever put together in high school circles hereabouts.

Coach Lippe started the season with a number of lettermen from 1939-1940 season and obtained maximum results with his material. George Gilbert, 6'4" center, did not return to school; graduation and the eligibility rules riddled the team in January; Casoli and Buccilli ended their school careers; the semester rule made Volitich ineligible. These losses left Coach Lippe with a squad of only six players: Bar, Ferry, Blicha, Fuderich, Belas, and Schell. The first string reserve team, consisting of Hodovanich, Zernich, Odlivak, Rusinko, and Ferezan, was immediately moved up to the varsity squad. Adapting his style of play to the abilities of the players, he polished the team into a fast moving, smooth working outfit such as has seldom been seen in Beaver Valley. Featuring a modified zone and man for man defense which kept the opposing team out of the foul circle, a speedy figure eight offense with quick breaks for the basket, and swift, short passes, Aliquippa mowed down its league competition. Sacrificing individual glory to team play, the boys moved steadily along and many times overcame large opposing leads to win. We averaged more than forty points per game throughout the entire season, and Fred Ferry, star forward, ended the season as the leading scorer of Section III.

During the pre-league schedule, which included Freedom, Allegheny, Monaca, Washington, Erie Academy, and Duquesne, Aliquippa lost to Washington and Duquesne, but gained revenge for the defeat later in the season when the Red and Black came from behind and turned the tables on Duquesne. In the regular league contests we won all our games beating each of the other teams in the valley twice, a record which meant the Beaver County Championship and the second winning of the Geneva Cup. Permanent possession of the Geneva trophy comes with the third winning. Ambridge, the only other winner, has had the cup once. This record gave us the undisputed championship of Section III which is admittedly one of the toughest sections in the W.P.I.A.L.

Cross Country Base

CROSS-COUNTRY

Cross-Country, one of the most exacting of all high school sports, has reached a height of popularity in Aliquippa. Despite the rigorous physical demands of the competition, almost fifty applicants for the eight varsity positions reported to Coach Jones last fall.

After they had completed several weeks of intensive training over the tough high school campus course, which measures about three miles in length, Coach Jones held a series of time trials to determine the varsity runners. The harriers who took part in the dual and championship meets for Aliquippa were Gary Duncan, Joe Debiec, Anthony Molinaro, Rocco Ciccone, Bill Vafeas, Mike Romona, Maurice Marchal, Wilbur Powell, and John Lupcho.

Our runners booked the stiffest competition available for their dual meets and built up the endurance and competitive spirit which later enabled them to make their fine showing in the W.P.I.A.L. meet over the hilly Schenley Park course in Pittsburgh, in which Aliquippa placed third, losing only to the Canonsburg and Mt. Lebanon teams.

Being thus qualified by this record, they competed in the Western Pennsylvania Regional Meet including about thirty schools and placed fifth in the group.

BASEBALL

For Aliquippa, baseball is one of the major varsity sports. Eighty eager candidates turned out when Coach Garda started practice last spring. Since practically all of the 1939 Beaver County championship squad had been graduated, Mr. Garda had to start with an inexperienced team; but it was ambitious and turned in a creditable season's performance with six victories and three defeats in league competition and two victories in the two non-league games played again Beaver Falls.

Carrying a squad of about twenty players, Coach Garda entered Section 12 of the W.P.I.A.L., scheduling games with Monaca, Beaver, Rochester, Freedom, and Midland. The Midland team eventually won the championship of the Beaver County League.

Bar, Pinkosky, Stamos, and Valcho handled the pitching assignments and turned in some very commendable performances. Stamos did not lose a game. Bar, who had disclosed streaks of wildness in the early games, gained control with experience, and during the latter part of the season held down every opponent he faced. The record of these pitchers matches that of the rest of the squad. All have real ability which is being developed by experience.

TRACK

With no practice track, no field, no jumping pits, with very little track and field equipment, and with negligible experience, our track team has worked wonders in competition with other high school teams. Lacking an oval track, Coach Roger James has his distance runners practicing on the cross country course and his sprinters running in the halls of the school. The distance baton handlers won second place in both the Three Mile Relay of the W.P.I.A.L. Indoor Championships in Pitt Track House and in the Tri-State Track Coaches' Association Meet at Pitt Stadium; the sprint teams took second honors in the Mile Relay in the hotly contested W.P.I.A.L. Championship Relays.

Nick Susnjer, Aliquippa's representative in the shot put, was an outstanding performer during the whole season. He took first place with the twelve pound shot in the Washington Relays and in the A.M.A. Meet, and also won the sixteen pound event in the Allegheny County Meet. In these last two meets, Susnjer competed with both high school athletes and with former high school and college stars who were entered for amateur clubs. Then, to climax the season, Susnjer made himself champion of the whole W.P.I.A.L. with a beautiful heave in the twelve pound event of the championship meet at Pitt Stadium.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

The Reserve Basketball Team, composed of players from last year's junior high and reserve squads, concluded its schedule with a record of thirteen wins and three defeats. Besides furnishing the preliminaries to the regular contests the reserves were injected into several of the varsity games, thus gaining valuable experience for next year, when a number of them will be promoted to the varsity squad.

The competition among the reserve teams of the valley schools is strong, and all the preliminary contests were well played; in fact, some of them were closer and more thrilling than the regular interscholastic games which followed. The coaches of this district take pains with their reserves and spend quite a good deal of time polishing their style of play.

The excellent calibre of our reserves is shown by the fact that when mid-year graduation depleted the ranks of the varsity, the whole first string reserve team was moved up to the varsity squad and will likely become next year's regulars.

Mr. Garda, who had acted as coach for the reserves until mid-season, asked to be relieved of his basketball duties in order to devote his time to officiating in W.P.I.A.L. games; Mr. Lippe took over his work and finished the season as mentor for both the varsity players and the reserves.

TENNIS

Thirty, love! Thirty, fifteen! Thirty all! Deuce! . . . The tennis courts behind the gym during most of last summer resounded to cries of keen competition, for one of the closest and most hotly contested tournaments in the school's history was in progress. With practically every tennis player in the school entered, every round brought surprises; numerous dark horses, among them the eventual winner, showed up during the course of the tournament.

This last tournament, arranged and supervised by Mr. Milanovich, produced more than its share of thrills and upsets, for only one of the four favored entrants advanced to the final round. Playing of the first and second round contests was delayed for quite some time because of bad weather and the inadequate draining facilities of the clay courts. However, as soon as the rainy season ended and the courts dried up, the games proceeded according to schedule.

Dark horse Andy Citara, using a slashing and cutting game, advanced through his scheduled contests to the finals where his opponent was Jack Trembath. Trembath was unable to get set for the fierce driving game which had handcuffed his other opponents, and Citara emerged victorious in the third set.

CHEERLEADERS

New Uniforms! New Cheers! New Pep and Enthusiasm! . . . our cheerleaders become experts! Under the direction of Mr. Wasel, who took over the task of coaching them during the football season, our cheerleaders have instilled a new spirit of pride into our student body. The snappy new cheers, varying from the traditional staccato movements to gymnastic antics and swing rhythm have awakened an increasing interest in our cheering section both in the pep rallies and at games. The very definite feeling that Aliquippa High was back of them encouraged our teams, and soon the growing spirit of the student body became reflected in the increased determination of the athletes to win.

The cheerleading group has devoted its time faithfully, in regular practice sessions, to the perfecting of the new cheers and the organization of the cheering section. The members of the squad have also made the arrangements for trips of organized rooters to accompany the teams on several out-of-town trips. Though the cheerleaders were almost all inexperienced at the beginning of the year, their tireless and unceasing practice has developed them into a polished unit; and since the squad is made up for the most part of underclassmen, we may expect efficient cheerleading for several years to come.

"A game for every girl and every girl in a game" has been the guiding motto for Aliquippa girls for many years. In 1932 the Girls' Athletic Association inaugurated an intramural sports program designed to develop its members physically, mentally, and morally. Mushball, volleyball, hockey, basketball, bowling, tumbling, tennis, and Red Cross life saving are on the G. A. A. agenda. The arrangement considered most practicable for fair matching of teams is a two-group division: one group, the junior, consisting of girls from 9B to 10B inclusive; and the other, the senior, composed of 10A to 12A students. From its earliest experimental stages has evolved our present stabilized and impartial point system for letter awards.

Every girl is eligible for three awards; a beginner's award of an arrowhead and class numeral; an intermediate award of an arrowhead with the G. A. A. insignia and numeral; and the varsity letter which is granted when the participant has earned a total of one thousand points. In competitive intramurals members of champion teams are awarded one hundred points, players in second place receive seventy-five points, and all others who participate in more than half the games played by their teams are given fifty points. In non-competitive activities the points given vary with each sport. All girls who participate in the G. A. A. athletic program automatically become members of the association.

Intramurals provide a never-ending outlet for athletic energy. From the first day of school until the last the G. A. A. bulletin board informs its members of the day's schedule of events.

MUSHBALL . . . The old reliable, mushball, both opens and closes the intramural season for the girls; it is the last sport played before the summer vacation, and it is resumed immediately after the first day of school in September. With a myriad of female "Babe Ruths" eager to "fake a cut at the ball," the shop field is crowded day after day with skilled sluggers and fielders. For the past several years the number of participants has been increasing with a new high each year. This year fifteen full teams took part in their respective leagues; for in mushball, as in all other girls' athletics, the players are grouped according to their experiences in either the Beginners' League or the Advanced League. The Dukes took the pennant among the beginners while the Aces captured the flag in the senior group.

VOLLEYBALL . . . As soon as bad weather calls finis to the mushball season in the fall, the girls start right in with volleyball. Since volleyball is played indoors where several games can be played at one time, a huge number of girls are enrolled each year. Almost every afternoon the gym is filled to capacity with gyrating and shrieking dervishes frantically attempting to keep the ball away from their opponents' outstretched hands. The girls who have played before and who are familiar with the rules act as referees. This year six teams of experienced players and ten of newcomers played through their schedules. The Aces and the Indians won the titles in their respective leagues.

HOCKEY . . . The clash of the sticks, the thud of a ball, and the eager shouts of enthusiastic hockey players are familiar sounds to the ears of passersby on the road below the shop field. The "shinny on your own side" devotees spend several afternoons each week practicing and playing field hockey, and this game has developed into one of the most popular of girls' sports at A. H. S. The speed of the game, the skill of ball handling, the invigorating autumn air, the quick and unexpected reversals of fortune which occur during the games have endeared hockey to the girls. In fact, this year so many players responded to the call that it was necessary to form two leagues, one for the beginners and the other for the experienced enthusiasts.

BASKETBALL . . . Swish! Amid the triumphant shrieks of the enthralled players, the ball drops through the hoop for another score. The lure of girls' basketball continues to exert its influence as the major intramural sport for our feminine athletes. Despite the difficulty of securing playing time and space, almost two hundred eager players turned out forming nineteen teams, eleven of which were composed of first year players. Games are played whenever time can be squeezed in between boys' varsity and reserve practice: after school, in the evening, and sometimes even on school holidays. The climax of the season was an All-Star game between teams of experienced players; the event was so successful that it has been definitely adopted as the annual feature which will cap each basketball season.

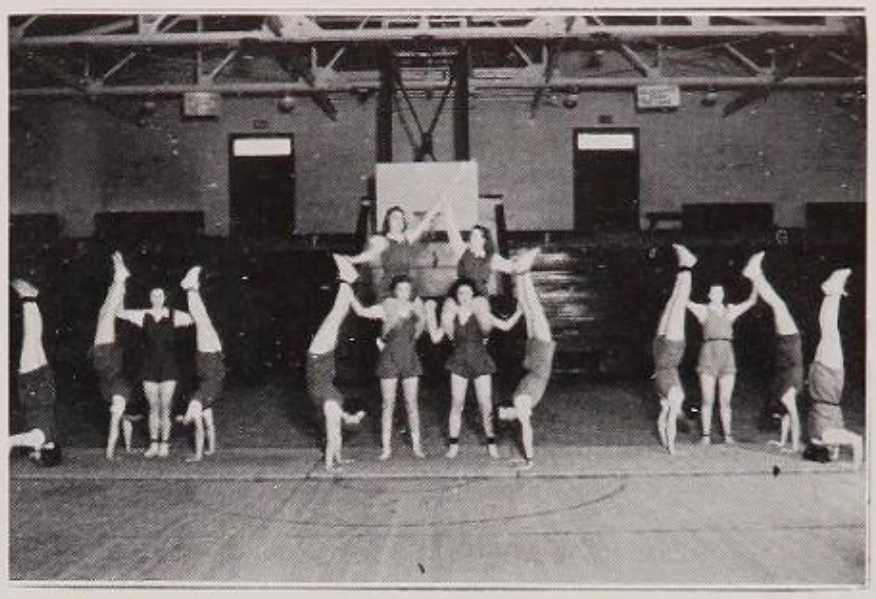
BOWLING . . . Crash! A well placed ball sweeps all the pins before it as it thuds against the backmat, and another bowling enthusiast is born. Twice each week after school a group of about a hundred girls fills the Orpheum Alleys with shrieks of glee at a strike or cries of disappointment as a ball skithers off the alley into the gutter. The girls are granted a reduced rate, and though they themselves must pay this fee, the number of participants has more than doubled during the past year. Only duck pins are used since the ten pin ball is too heavy and unwieldy for high school girls. The bowlers are divided into groups, and they, in turn, conduct their own tournaments.

"Dead-eye for the hoop!"
Ceravolo, Martin, Referee Reich, Rebich, Hanshew

"Keep it out of the gutter!"
Honatke, Schaefer, Jones, Kelsey, Broz, Mihalik, Robertson, Bowman, Daugherty.

Basketball Bowling Tumbling

TUMBLING . . . Rolls, handsprings, headstands, balances: all these are in the repertoire of the members of the tumbling group. Formed originally to provide a greater opportunity for practice for the Spring Exhibition, the group has attracted quite a large number of girls who wish to become more skilled in gymnastic feats. The girls practice individual and team tumbling, learn to form intricate human pyramids, and incidentally acquire that spring and suppleness so coveted by high school girls. This is the first year tumbling has been incorporated into the intramural schedule, but the interest in it has been so great that it will undoubtedly be continued.



"Steady now!"
Shank, Reich, Ceravolo, M. Evans, Zenn, E. Evans, Hanshew, Bowman, Cox, Johnston, Naddour, Turkovich, Jones, LeViseur.

PLAY DAY . . . Members of the G. A. A. who participate annually in two or more of the major intramural sports automatically acquire one of the primary qualifications for membership in the Girls Athletic Leaders Club, a group which has originated many of the girls' athletic activities. Among these is an annual Beaver County Play Day, initiated in 1932, to which nine county schools send representatives from their respective G. A. A.'s. Since then, with the exception of one year, when Midland asked to take over, Aliquippa has held annually a spring play day.

This year the motif of the play day was Indian. Ten Aliquippa girls, each assisted by a lieutenant captained teams named for Indian tribes. On each of these teams played a rep-representative from each participating school. The program included all kinds of sports from basketball to shuffleboard. Teams competed with each other; Aliquippa girls refereed all games except basketball, which was refereed by future physical education instructors from the University of Pittsburgh. The team captained by Elsie J. Naddour won the championship. The prize to each girl on the winning team was a very colorful Indian peacepipe.

Beaver County play days have always achieved their purpose: to bring together girls from different county schools to play in various sports with rather than against girls of other schools.

Winning tribe . . . Play Day.

Valley pow-wow . . . Play Day.
Indians from Ambridge, Rochester, Monaca, New Brighton, Beaver, Beaver Falls, Hopewell, Midland, Freedom, and Aliquippa.

The patriarch of the forest of extra-curricular activities is the National Honor Society. It is a landmark which enables every high school pupil to place himself and what he is doing. Those who, in after years, look back to high school days will still see the landmark shining plainly. The service each semester of inducting new members becomes a part of flesh and blood. The ritual, for all its repetition, never ceases to interest. Casually we find ourselves listening, sometimes half-repeating parts of the ceremony. We all realize the importance, suddenly, of the significant purposes of education and of the high austerity of those purposes. And few there are who, encountering the work of National Honor Society and witnessing an induction ceremony, can remain indifferent or keep from vowing to do better simply for the sake of better being.

The membership of Presidents Club consists of those boys and girls who have demonstrated their abilities of leadership so conclusively that they have been elected officers of home rooms. These officers meet weekly to discuss and act upon many phases and problems of school life. They contribute their hours to the promotion of a finer school body wherein efficiency will not be stressed to the exclusion of individual rights. Decisions are made and are disseminated through the school by way of the homeroom meeting. One of the services rendered by the group to the general student body is the maintenance of a student loan fund. The club supervises election of class officers to acquaint its members with practical problems of citizenry. Further, this group concludes each year's activity by holding a general election of a May King and Queen. Presidents Club is the road to the future, to a finer school, to a more enjoyable education, to eventual better citizenship in the greater world of the community, the state, and the nation.

From what circus did these freaks escape? . . . They're not freaks . . . No? Then what are they? . . . Girl Reserve neophytes . . . At least once a year when we see these girls clad in patches and enhanced by lipstick indiscriminately applied, we know that the Girl Reserves "have did it agin." However, after the initiation the girls really get down to serious business. Meetings, held every two weeks, are educational in nature. Girl Reserves attend council meetings at the Y. W. C. A. in Pittsburgh; representatives are sent to Girl Reserve conferences. From such meetings reports are brought back to be used in improvement of the local organization. They are prominent in all fields of work where voluntary services are necessary; members do Red Cross work. A May Dance climaxes the social program of the Girl Reserves.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Bang! . . . This meeting will now come to order. Brother members, what is our purpose? . . . To create, maintain, and extend throughout this school and community high standards of Christian character. . . . What is our platform? . . . Clean speech clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living . . . This ritual has introduced every weekly meeting since the club was first chartered. Discussions of problems vital to the daily lives of the boys follow the regular business meetings. Services rendered include ushering at all stadium events, games, and social activities. This Hi-Y deserves special commendation for its decorations throughout the school at Christmas time.

Is it service you want? Is it leadership which is needed? Do you desire cheerful, organized, immediate accomplishment? Page the Leaders Club. Chartered as an organization "way back when," the group continues to pulse vitally through all arteries of school life. Its aims are altruistic—leadership in physical prowess and sports for the benefit of the individual, service to the school, to the community, and to the county. To this group is due credit for originating Play Day in Beaver County, merit for their bundle day for the poor mountain whites, praise for work in selling poppies, for packing and distributing gift baskets, for selling tags to aid the V. F. W. purchase of an oxygen tent, and cheers for the splendid assembly they gave to the school by bringing to Aliquippa High School the Slippery Rock State Teachers College gym team for an inspiring exhibition.

The curtain opens. For a short time the stage is peopled by boys and girls who find unique pleasure in new roles in an old game. The audience leans to the lights. There is an illusion here. And when the curtain falls, something seems to have gone. So it was with What a Life. And so it was with The Vampire Bat, and with You Can't Take It With you. But What A Life left us something, for the new cyclorama setting was purchased from the proceeds of the play. Cue and Curtain doesn't limit its interest to the legitimate stage alone. Its members have investigated movies and have learned how to shop for the good pictures. Every semi-monthly meeting is followed by a social program. Any student having a B average in dramatics is eligible for membership.

Tch . . . Tch . . . Tch, slumping at the table. Oh, so you're doing only as the Romans did? Are their bad manners all you're copying? . . . No, our menu is Roman food served in the ancient style. . . This conversation could easily have taken place at the dinner, fashioned after a typical Roman banquet, given by the Latin clubs this year. A senator entertained in honor of Cicero. All was carried out in the Emilia Posta manner of the Roman day. The banquet has not been the Latin Clubs' only venture into the past, for a late spring assembly in 1940 presented the members of the club in a Roman style show. Jupiter, greatest of all Roman gods, and Juno, his wife, presided over the event. The occasion afforded the students a stimulating picture of old Rome. This year the clubs' modus operandi included decoration of the club room and publication of a Latin newspaper.

This year marks the third anniversary of the Alpha Zeta Hi-Y, an organization which offers each year more varied and vital services to school and community. Christian character is one of the group's primary objectives. No less important is the promulgation of racial understanding and good will. Were you to see this club in action each Thursday at 4:05, you would hear the sound of the president's gavel followed by devotions, an interesting business session, and an informative discussion. Outstanding assemblies, a local church service, and successful socials and proms are listed among the accomplishments of the Alpha Zeta Hi-Y in Aliquippa High School. To stimulate interest in better school and community citizenship, this club, composed of dependable, spirited boys, is planning an annual presentation of an award to the most outstanding colored student.

A new slant on an old adage might be that on looking at a matured oak, one finds it difficult to visualize correctly the exact physiognomy of the original acorn. So is it with the Quippian: Now that the volume is a fait accompli, the origins of the book have already become lost in obscurity and partially have become legend. Who can remember the first faint stirrings which were promise of growth? Who can subtract the inspiration from the idea or the idea from the inspiration? Who can remember the growing pains and their finely shaded variations? Who can remember in detail the socials, the games, the assemblies, the ever increasing deluge of events, and evaluate correctly the influx of each new element? Who would attempt to weigh the value of one hour against another, the weight of one contribution against the pertinence of another? Here is the Quippian Committee whose members best know of all such things. But they are now a part of the legend, and in the light of accomplishment they know that whatever has been is now less important than what is. And though the year's end will see the disbanding of the Committee, here, at least, is a tireless legend in which they remain together.

Thursday! The Observer! Hear Ye! Hear Ye! A copper stream flows on the tables. School life caught in the mesh of print becomes the captive of the buyer. The bold rapidly search headlines for a correct estimation of their merits; the shy, with bated breath, hurriedly retire to a secluded nook to search the columns which might somewhere conceal their names. Classes, assemblies, proms, personalities, sports, and a thousand other aspects of the kaleidoscopic panorama of youth in an early process of education shine in words which form a never-ending caravan across the pages. Hours of work, polishing of words, supervision of materials, censorship, debunking, revision, proof-reading, and all phases of the collection of news are the barriers which the volunteer writer must surmount to find his place on the staff. But through clouds of mundane procedure, a beacon shines brightly enough to show the way to a young journalist.

Pegasus, winging his way over Aliquippa High School, was kind enough to drop a feather from his wing. This feather was the object of enough curiosity to stimulate various boys and girls to the shaping of a quill. These future Pulitzer Prize-winners are trying the merits of the quill in every conceivable phase of writing. All this is another way of announcing a new purpose among those in the school interested in creative writing. Creative Writing members meet every Monday. There is no formal program; members read manuscripts, offer criticisms and evaluations, study markets for manuscripts, occasionally stray into fields of philosophic speculation, delve into the pleasures and mysteries of literary style, and advance toward an even nearer goal of satisfaction derived from expressing their own thoughts and ideas.

Proof that our high school students are concerned about the world's problems is demonstrated at the weekly discussions of the Forum Club. An inquiring mind is the only qualification for membership. Usually the evening belongs wholly to the students, but occasionally outside speakers bring their opinions to this group. The old New England town meeting is the pattern for the Forum meetings; everyone has an opportunity to voice his own opinion and to question the speakers. Thus students learn to be more tolerant and to maintain open minds; therein is emphasized the need and wisdom of suspended judgments, and the young citizen of Aliquippa High School broadens his mental horizons in preparation for tomorrow's anxious problems.

Aliquippa High School has a definite and well-organized extra-curricular music program . . . Vivace. How lifeless and how dreary school activities could be if it weren't for the blare of trumpets, the rolling of drums, the flash of colored uniforms, the challenging tempos, the marches and melodies that become a part of our mental fabric. How uninspired would most school affairs be without the band; a band proud of its sixty members; a band that sent eleven of its members to the Midwestern P. S. E. A. Convention; a band that is part of every athletic event, of every parade, Hollawe'en, Christmas, Armistice, and other days; a band which has made us aware of Sousa, which has inspired in us an appreciation of stirring music; a band that arouses in us the nobility to recognize the greatness of all that band music means! Here's to our band! There's no use trying; you can't play to beat our band. . . . Fortissimo!

Allegretto . . . The charity of strings is sweet and welcome. Here is an organization of fewer members than the band, an organization which bears an importance unrelated to its size. Modulated music for home economics style shows, background for National Honor Society assemblies and Girl Reserve initiations, thunder or calm for school plays and for productions of local dramatic groups: these are some of String Ensemble members' services. String Ensemble is an integral part of the cloth of gold, of airy conversation, of momentous first, if only, nights, of gaiety, of green palms and ferns, the bubbles of colorful nights, which when they disintegrate disclose pearls of rare luster . . . Allegretto.

The primary purpose of the Jenny Lind Chorus is to develop the musical ability and talent of its members. The members are trained for choir work; they often are featured in social events in the community. All who hear the Jenny Lind singers sense their fine contribution to the musical life of the school; the unique quality of their voices and the character of their musical selections always create an eager audience. The Jenny Lind Chorus offers, too, aside from musical training, opportunities for social training and development. Parties are held from time to time, and an annual dance is given during the year.

Although the Freshman Girls Chorus is one of the most recently organized clubs in the school, there are seventy-two girls enrolled as members. This club was organized to enable the girls to become acquainted with each other and to train them so that they will be ready to enter the Bach Choir. Each girl is permitted membership for the duration of her freshman year. Thus, there is provided a completely new membership each year. The girls are willing to appear an both school and civic programs. Weekly rehearsals are held on Mondays after school.

A cappella . . . The Bach Choir is one of the largest organizations in our school. An original membership in 1934 of forty-two members has expanded until there are now over a hundred singers in the group. Each year the choir sings for Baccalaureate services, graduation exercises, and the Spring Concert. Some members achieve signal honors in being selected to represent Aliquippa High School at the Midwestern Chorus, and this year from this group four were sent to the All-State Chorus. The choir does not limit its musical selections to Bach but interprets modern radio and choral music.

Tout ensemble . . . The band for the glory, the shouting, the tumult; the String Ensemble for gaiety, laughter, and light conversation; the orchestra for the serious, the formal, and the more impressive aspects of high school life.

Here there is skill and attentive devotion,
The desire to interpret all greatest emotion.

The orchestra is indispensable to any group wishing to present a serious program with an air of authenticity. From its sixty skillful players, Mary Cook and Edwin Creider were this year chosen to participate in the State Orchestra, a rare but deserved privilege. Yet the enjoyment of the orchestra is a privilege all of us realize and to its members are extended the unanimous "thank you" of the student body, tout ensemble.

The Treble Clef, a girls' glee club, provides food not only for the musical appetites of its members, but it offers also a substantial diet at its annual picnic and occasional socials. Each year members are privileged to elect as a club program, an operetta or cantata, or to prepare songs which they might be requested to sing at the meeting of some civic organization. This year the club chose to present an operetta, Miss Caruthers Returns. Treble Clef meets every Friday after school. Membership is determined by election. Tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade girls submit membership applications.

BOYS CHORUS

Sponsor, Mr. Bennett

Christmas programs and Spring Musicales would lack some of their natural sparkle and zest if it were not for the Boys Chorus. A considerable amount of youthful steam has been converted into notes which ring true and afford pleasure to an audience ever growing larger, ever increasing in musical perception and appreciation. At their best, the boys crystallize in song a certain spirited quality of the youth of our school. The organization is one of the largest of the school's singing groups. They often sing unaccompanied. Membership is open to all boys who are interested in singing, who want to develop their knowledge of group singing, who like to carry a tune and to harmonize, and who will be faithful in attendance at meetings.

Cold light from luminal, laughing gas from chemicals, and the preparation of a fire extinguisher: these are not hypothetical intricacies of a bizarre comic strip; they are the realities of Chemistry Club meetings. The purpose of the Chemistry Club is to give students interested in chemistry an opportunity to perform or watch demonstrations of chemical experiments which are not usually undertaken in regular laboratory work. Each Monday the chemists meet that their scientific interests shall be developed and extended. Each year members visit some near-by industrial plant or research laboratory. Membership is open to any tenth, eleventh, or twelfth grade student interested in chemistry.

What? No officers? No, thank you. Biology Club doesn't believe in them. So-o-o, and to what does this lead? Well, membership in this club leads to the out-of-doors, to a greater knowledge of the great open spaces and what therein is contained, to a fuller enjoyment of nature via the route of hiking and picnicking. The club renders valuable service to the school by planting trees on the campus each spring. Members prepare themselves, also, for the Nature Contest sponsored each year by the Pittsburgh Carnegie Museum. Last year, Steve Ristich won third place in a contest based upon ability to name correctly and technically approximately three hundred fifty plants and animals.

To increase knowledge of science and its relation to every day life, the Science Club was founded in 1938. Opportunity awaits the anxious scientific-minded students each Thursday after school. There, in room 306 they indulge in individual experiments and enjoy the lectures and demonstrations. In the past, the club has devoted much of its time to the study of radio, photography, and biographies of outstanding scientists. In the future, they wish to further their studies in these and other fields to satisfy their everlasting curiosity.

Two and two make . . . Do they now? . . . Always? . . . If Mary is X years and Johnny is 2 X years, and their combined ages . . . . . Mathematicians find congenial companionship in Sigma Sigma Sigma, the math club. Since its organization during the first semester of 1939-40, the club has held weekly meetings at which the business sessions were followed by math programs. These versatile mathematicians are actors, too, as their last assembly, an exaggerated picture of a sixth period class, conclusively proved. The Tri Sigs' picnic proved that they do not suffer the ill effects of an "all work, no play" program. To be eligible for membership in Sigma Sigma Sigma, a student must have earned at least a C grade in math and must have had passing grades in all other subjects.

"There is no frigate like a book—" No? Well, there's Travel Club, and the travelers appear to get around. They pack a neat fund of information concerning the world into an evening's entertainment. They also tote about some real travel tales. There's no fireplace in room 230; the winds which nip the windows are perhaps not so cold as Tibetan howlers; neither are there any flamingoes gracing palm-fringed pools; but the meeting place is comfortable, the friends are congenial, and their minds have glimpsed horizons strange to native topography. Many a member knows that mountains may be moved, that the Rockies do not belong exclusively to the West, that the spray of Niagara has dampened faces hundreds of miles away, that salmon are not born with coats of tin, that coconut does not grow in shreds, and that the best way to see beyond a horizon is to see through it.

Should a good nurse have red hair? Should she file her fingernails short? Why does she dress in a white uniform? In curing a sickness, what is the correlation between the efficacy of a smile and the effectiveness of medical knowledge? What does one do to merit a white cap? What experiences beset a nurse? Or bestow blessings upon her? The Future Nurses Club members know all the answers. They spend their time during semi-monthly meetings discussing entrance requirements for various nurses' training schools, personal traits vital to success in the profession, opportunities open to an individual after graduation, and methods of preparing for a successful career in nursing. The program of the group emphasizes the practical value of having an education that is always useful.

This club, organized in 1938, was in March, 1939 granted a charter of affiliation with the National Future Teachers of America. The local chapter was one of the first of its kind in Pennsylvania, and its members are those students who intend to enter the teaching profession. Personal Growth Leaflets published by the National Education Association are used as handbooks for study and discussion at meetings. All members must participate in some form of practical help; they must always be prepared to render certain services to teachers when requested. They are encouraged to visit public schools, teachers' colleges, and universities. One may become a member by evincing an interest in the work of the club and by attending three successive meetings.

If "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach," the Home Economics Club member should "get her man." The girls really can cook. The purposes of the Home Economics Club are to provide social activity for home economics students, to serve the home economics department and the school, and to give girls in other departments an opportunity to participate in home economics enterprises. Each year the club gives a party for all the ninth grade girls. The group also sponsors one or two socials; and this year a skating party, one of the first of its kind in our gym, was an outstanding event on the club calender. A picnic concludes the social activities for the year. The club girls help to serve dinners, luncheons, and teas in the department. At Christmas time the girls prepare and sell candies. At the Spring Festival the club awards two gold pins to girls who have earned five hundred points by performing various services in the department.
